Shanghai Fight Ends As League Meets At Geneva Leaders Order Two Armies Stand Still During Negotiations

Nanking Government instructs 19th Army to Cease Hostilities; Order Follows Japanese Announcement of End of Battle

CHINESE EXPECT PEACE DISCUSSION

Canadian Press and Associated Press Dispatches

Shanghai, Friday, March 4.—The Chinese Government at Nanking notified the League of Nations Assembly to-day that the 19th route army had been instructed to cease hostilities in this area unless it were attacked. This move came soon after the Japanese military and naval commanders had announced their forces would discontinue the fighting unless the Chinese should launch an attack. The government's definite move, it was believed, was designed to make possible the opening of preliminary negotiations to restore peace.

Tokio Said Only to Desire Guarantee of Safety For Japanese at Shanghai

Geneva, March 3.—Negotiations for an armistice at Shanghai had broken down, Dr. W. W. Yen, the Chinese spokesman, told the League of Nations Assembly this afternoon. Simultaneously, Dr. Yen's office presented a report to Secretary-General Sir Eric Drummond of the League, asserting Japanese armistice terms as presented to Vice-Admiral Sir Howard Kelly of the British Asiatic fleet, were "absolutely unacceptable." He added continuation of hostilities was unavoidable.

Scene in Greatest Man-hunt Staged in the United States

As the early morning sun was shining yesterday the sturdy New Jersey State policeman pictured above looked on while photographers trained their cameras on footprints left by the criminals who a few hours before had kidnapped twenty-month-old Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. The child was taken between 7.30 and 10 o'clock Tuesday evening. The Times is able to show after the crime to give its readers this glimpse of one part of the great man-hunt because of the astonishing speed of the modern telephone system. The N.E.A. Service rushed the photos to New York by plane. From there they were telephoned to San Francisco. From the California city copies were rushed by airmail service to Seattle and the cut made in The Times photo engraving plant this forenoon is presented above. This creates a record picture service for the British Columbia Coast on a major news development on the Atlantic seaboard of this continent. (See Page 9 for picture of house).

Letter Mailed By Woman Sends Police To Comb Provinceline for Kidnapers

Officials Believe Note Seen Dropped in Postal Station Box Gives Best Clue to Whereabouts of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.; Woman, Who Departed From Post Office, Wrote She Knew Baby Held by Two Men and Woman; Story of Boat Told by Rum-runner Is Investigated

Associated Press

Asbury Park, N.J., March 3.—A rum runner's story of passing a thirty-foot cruiser on which a man was seen and a baby's cries were heard sent coastguard craft racing along the New Jersey seaboard to-day in the latest phase of the Lindbergh baby kidnap case.

The rum runner, whose name was not revealed, told his story to Guardsman Thomas Harris of the Deal station. Superintendent O. R. Sands broadcast the alarm to all coastguard craft.

The rum runner said he had come on the cruiser twenty miles off Scotland Light and he then did not know of the kidnapping. This happened yesterday evening after the rum runner had failed to make contact with the liquor ship from which he was to have taken on cargo and was on his way back to shore.

OFFERED $100

The cruiser, a dirty white craft, appeared off the rum runner's port bow, and the man on board hailed the liquor runner, he said.

"My compass is broken," he yelled, and waving a $100 bill offered to buy the rum runner's compass.

The rum runner said he refused to sell, but offered to repair the broken compass. He pulled alongside the cruiser and was about to board it when a baby cried below. The man slammed the hatch and the cruiser glided away without another word.

REPORTS TO POLICE

After the rum runner had landed he learned of the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby and decided to report what he had seen and heard.

He said the cruiser bore no name, but only the letter K, followed by some indistinguishable numbers. The letter indicated New York registry, the coast-guard said.

PLANES AT SEARCH

Hopewell, N.J., March 3.—A feeling that the Lindbergh baby may be secreted in the broken country somewhere near the Lindbergh home still persists among many of the searchers.

Airplanes fly overhead and hunters among the gullies, caves and thickets of the neighborhood still go on, although the search has already been extensive.

There are many hiding places like the "Rockhouse," a cleavage large enough to conceal a man.

The entire mountain area was photographed by a fleet of four planes. The result may have some value if the kidnapers took the child into the mountains.

FINGERPRINTS STUDIED

Washington, March 3.—A child's fingerprints on an automobile abandoned at Hyattsville, Md., the night Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. was stolen from his crib were photographed to-day by police to be sent to New Jersey authorities for checking with the prints of the missing baby.

Police of Washington and the surrounding districts searched rooming houses and hotels for a man and woman who left the car and failed to return for it yesterday.

NEW YORK HUNT FOR KIDNAPERS

New York, March 3.—Police headquarters sent out a radio alarm shortly before 10 o'clock this morning to all radio-equipped police automobiles in Manhattan to stop and investigate an automobile, with license plates N-3837 N.Y., going south on Sixth avenue, in which two women with a baby were riding.

The new naval estimates provided for the year 1932, announced in a statement accompanying the naval estimates that the total had been fixed with strict reference to the needs of the financial situation, but it must not be regarded "as adequate provision for the navy's needs."

SECOND RANSOM DEMAND MADE

Trenton, N.J., March 3.—A second letter demanding $50,000 ransom for the return of the Lindbergh child was made public by police authorities stationed at the Hopewell home of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, to-day. The letter, received by Col. Lindbergh, was postmarked New York and unsigned.

LINDBERGH AND DOG ON STROLL

Colonel Seeks Relief in Action While New Jersey Police Seek Kidnaped Son

Associated Press

Wentworth, N.J., March 3.—Seeking relief from the strain of helping wait for word of his kidnapped baby, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh left his home for a time this morning and plunged aimlessly through the woods.

Seen ploughing through dense undergrowth, a mile from the house, they were a pair to arouse sympathy in the hardest heart, the man's face drawn and white, the little dog dashing to one side and then the other as though hunting for its lost playmate.

The colonel was completely oblivious to all around him, his inner turmoil apparently blinding him to everything. He was dressed in high boots and rough muddied clothing and, scolding the roads, strode right through tangled brush.

When he was first seen it was believed he might possibly be keeping some secret appointment with the kidnaper, but this theory was soon abandoned, because the colonel was quite evidently merely seeking relief in action and was apparently scarcely aware of the direction he was traveling.

After about an hour he returned to the house, the little dog still following.

SAY KIDNAPING IS CHALLENGE

London, March 3.—The kidnapping of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. aroused the entire British press to indignant editorial comment to-day.

Under the caption, "A Monstrous Crime," The London Daily Telegraph said:

"Few more open challenges to civilized government ever have been ventured. Every citizen of America who is able to do so feels he has to play his part in rescuing Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., and the whole world will enter into the same anxiety of his parents and share in a hope for the child's speedy recovery."

"If this cruel and miserable method of intimidation with a helpless child as the victim, The Manchester Guardian said, 'is really the work of racketeers, and if the outcome of it is not a genuine and determined effort to end the whole abhorable business in all its ramifications, then the rot must be sunk very deeply into American life.'"

Leander class, one cruiser of the Arethusa class (5,000 to 6,000 tons), one leader, eight destroyers, four sloops, three submarines, one shallow draught gunboat, one destroyer depot ship and the following small craft: One boom defense vessel, one tug, two tenders and three lighters.

The naval estimates provide for an average personnel of 91,410, a decrease of 3,240. Wages and similar expense are estimated at $1,050,000 less than in 1931.

Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty, said in a statement accompanying the naval estimates that the total had been fixed with strict reference to the needs of the financial situation, but it must not be regarded "as adequate provision for the navy's needs."

Yesterday evening the army of reporters and photographers assigned to the kidnapping was requested to leave the estate for fear that if the kidnaper should bring the baby back he would be frightened at sight of the crowd and fall to sleep.

Boston, March 3.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son, kidnapped Tuesday night from their home near Hopewell, N.J., was reported, in a letter mailed by a woman in Boston to-day, to be held captive in a small New Jersey town.

The letter gave the name of the place as "Provincetown, N.J.," but the police interpreted this as referring to Provinceline, not far from Princeton. The police and postal officials said the tip appeared to be the best clue in the case thus far, and basing their judgment on their experience in such matters, said they believed it to be genuine.

After examination of the letter, which had been taken from the mails by authorization of Colonel Lindbergh, the massive was returned to the post office and once more started on its way.

The letter was mailed shortly after 10 a.m. in a postal station in Boston's south end, by a woman, described as about sixty years old, five feet, six inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds, dressed in dark clothing and speaking with a strong accent, probably German.

The woman had bought an air mail stamp, affixed it to the letter, and then departed, apparently in a state of extreme agitation.

A postal clerk promptly found the letter, which was called sharply to his attention by this typewritten notation on the envelope:

"Please spare no effort to have this message concerning Colonel Lindbergh's son rushed with all speed possible. This is no hoax, but it is a vitally important communication."

The letter read in part as follows: "Dear Colonel Lindbergh:

"I don't want to say how this information came into my possession. I urge you to act on it, though. I know that your son is held by two men and a woman at Provincetown, N.J."

"I received this information from a long distance."

DENIAL BY AUTO DRIVER

Boston, March 3.—A woman, about sixty years old, who sent an air mail letter to-day to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N.J., bearing a notation outside that it concerned the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby, was sought by police to-day. The police found an automobile in which the woman was reported to have been riding, but its owner denied he knew anything about the woman.

QUIET AT HOME OF LINDBERGH'S

All Waiting To-day, Following Feverish Hunt For Kidnapers Yesterday

Associated Press

Wentworth, N.J., March 3.—The Lindbergh home, robbed of the child who used to toddle about its nursery, stood silent against the scraggy background of the Sourland Hills to-day like some fairy tale palace under an evil spell.

All was feverish bustle and excitement within and outside the rambling stone house yesterday, but to-day activity had ceased. Inside were Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his grieving wife, yet somehow the building had the appearance of an uncoupled house.

The grounds, chained to mud by investigators yesterday, were forsaken to-day. State troopers stood motionless at the gate. No other figure could be seen.

ALL WAITING

There was a general air of waiting—the waiting officers, the waiting house, the waiting father and mother, all waiting for news; waiting because there was nothing else to do, waiting for the baby stolen from its crib.

Associated Press

Hopewell, N.J., March 3.—The Lindbergh baby was still missing to-day. But for miles on either side of the Lindbergh estate the road was cleared to make easy the return of the kidnaper, reported to be demanding $50,000 ransom, which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was stated to be ready to pay.

Yesterday evening the army of reporters and photographers assigned to the kidnapping was requested to leave the estate for fear that if the kidnaper should bring the baby back he would be frightened at sight of the crowd and fall to sleep.

JAPAN DIET IS TO MEET

Session For Discussion of Shanghai Expedition Expenses to Start March 18

By Glenn Babb, Associated Press Staff Correspondent

Tokio, March 3.—Japanese officialdom, after a hurried afternoon today, faced westward to look more hopefully on the procedure of the League of Nations at Geneva, following an announcement that hostilities at Shanghai had ceased.

The announcement of the cessation of fighting was made only an hour or two before the Assembly at Geneva convened to work out a permanent settlement of the Japanese-Chinese trouble.

SESSION MARCH 18

The Privy Council and the cabinet, which have been at loggerheads over a special parliamentary session to approve an appropriation for the expenses of the Shanghai expedition, also patched their differences during the afternoon and the special five-day session of Parliament was decided on, to start March 18.

Regarding the League Assembly session, officials to-night took the position that the League had asked to have the fighting at Shanghai stopped and since it was now stopped, the way should be paved for authorizing a round-table conference of all the interested powers at Shanghai to discuss the future status there.

Official reports from Shanghai to-night showed the Japanese forces there had advanced slightly beyond the twelve and one-half mile zone, especially the 11th Division, which was moving across country from the Yangtze shore.

Officials here said, however, that all Japanese troops would be withdrawn inside the twelve and one-half mile line as soon as possible.

The Shanghai mess has ended, "a government spokesman said. "It is now unnecessary to arrange a truce."

BIG PARADE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, March 3.—Several thousand "hunger marchers" paraded along Hastings Street and up Cambie to the Cambie Street grounds this afternoon.

HONOR FOR CARDINAL

Rome, March 3.—King Victor Emmanuel conferred the Collar of the Annunziata to-day on Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, making him "a cousin of the king." The Annunziata is the highest Italian order and is the one which was given Premier Benito Mussolini.

BRIAND UNDER DOCTORS' CARE

Paris, March 3.—Aristide Briand, who left Paris shortly after his resignation from the cabinet, has returned to be closer to the heart specialists who are attending him. It was learned to-day.

None of his three doctors would comment to-day on his condition.

LAUNCHES MOVE FOR TAX CUT

Hudson's Bay Carries to Court Its Appeal Against Esquimaux Municipal Levies

Actual Values Only Fraction of Assessment, Experts Testify to Judge

Claiming it was being taxed on an assessment which runs up to several times any reasonable valuation of the land, the Hudson's Bay Company, largest holder of real estate in the municipality, to-day took legal action before Judge Lampan to bring about a slash in the levies within the Esquimaux municipality.

H. G. Lawson, counsel for the Hudson's Bay, presented a list of properties, totaling 431 acres, upon which the company appealed for a tax cut from the levies imposed by the municipal assessor.

E. H. Wilson, manager of the Hudson's Bay land interests, testified that the company was also taking account assessments and levies on its holdings in Saanich to bring about a reduction.

Arthur R. Wolfenden, realty expert, took the stand and going over the company's Esquimaux holdings, block by block, testified that their nominal values were mostly only one-quarter to one-sixth of what they had been assessed at, and that even at the cut figures there was no chance of finding a purchaser for the properties.

M.P.'S DISCUSS SALARY CUTS

Ottawa, March 3.—A resolution to authorize general reductions of 10 per cent in the salaries of civil servants was considered in the Commons to-day. Hon. Peter Heenan, former labor minister, was the first speaker.

DEBTS MUST BE CUT, SAYS EULER

Ottawa, March 3.—A capital levy to wipe out the national debt "might be worthy of consideration," Hon. W. D. Euler (North Waterloo, Ont.), former Liberal Minister of National Revenue, told the Commons to-day. Dominion and provincial debts in Canada aggregated five billions. Unless steps were taken to decrease them, yearly interest charges would strangle trade, he said.

FIGHT AGAINST FUEL OIL TAX

Transportation Company Representatives Here to Resist Proposal

Representatives of railway and steamship companies were at the Parliament Buildings to-day in force protesting against an attempt to renew former abortive efforts to impose a fuel oil tax. They interviewed the Conservative caucus and are canvassing ministers and members energetically.

J. E. McMullen of the C.P.R., J. C. Irons of the Canadian-Australasian Line, J. H. Lawson for the Powell River Company were members of the delegation.

OHIO KIDNAPING GANG HUNTED

No Trace Found of Two Men Who Stole Young Son of Wealthy Contractor

Associated Press

Niles, Ohio, March 3.—Like Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, two Ohio parents waited in anguish to-day for the hoped-for safe return of a kidnapped son.

The boy, James de Jute Jr., eleven, son of a wealthy Niles contractor and his wife, was overpowered and stolen by two men from near his home here yesterday. They fled with him in an automobile.

Although two witnesses of the kidnapping gave police a good description of the abductors and their car, no definite trace of them had been found to-day.

Police throughout Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia were on the lookout to-day for the boy and the men. James was described as 4½ feet tall, with a light complexion and dark hair. He was wearing a grey leather coat with sheepskin collar and a grey cap.

James was stolen while going to school with his cousin, Anna May Mellina, twelve. After making certain of his identity, the kidnappers grabbed him. They did not molest the girl.

Vivid Description of War-scarred Shanghai

Blazing Chapel, Bombed Woonung, Troop Movements Noted By Eyewitness

Pitiable, Frightened Chinese Refugees Jam Streets and Sleep Anywhere

A Cornishman who has lived in China over forty years and who before his retirement a few years ago was senior employee in point of years of the Shanghai customs, has just written a letter to his elder brother, who is visiting in Victoria, and describes in vivid style the impressions of a keenly-observant layman who has been a spectator of the hostilities at Shanghai.

The man is R. J. Chard of Ward Road, Hongkew, Shanghai, and his elder brother, Capt. W. F. Chard, who brought the letter into The Times office, Capt. Chard has been in China himself since 1888 and has a life history, including long service on Yangtze riverboats, which reads like an adventure story.

DAY BY DAY

Parts of the letter follow:
January 28—Fighting started at midnight at the North Szechuen Road headquarters and continued fiercely till about 4 a.m., and then eased down.
January 29—Three Japanese bombers up in the air and started bombing about 10 a.m. Soon after, big fires were the order of the day, caused by the dropped bombs. One of the buildings struck fired and gutted The China Commercial Press Printing Company's premises situated in Chapel. This is the largest printing company in the whole east. Heavy rifle and machine-gun fire broke out after the bombing, but the Japs never got the railway station that they were really after, and it is known that the railway station is still in the hands of the Chinese troops. It is being defended by Cantonese troops, and they most certainly have put up a big fight.

January 30—Chinese opening with artillery against the Japanese headquarters on North Szechuen Road, but little or no damage reported. Heavy sniping all day. Odeon Theatre burnt down on North Szechuen Road.

THE BRITISH ARRIVE

January 31—Sixteen Japanese bombing planes circled all over Shanghai, as a demonstration no doubt. They flew over the Arsenal, then all down Pootung side to well down river. On the way back they flew around Lung Wah, where the Chinese keep their airships, then returned to the river and circled over the Japanese gunboats. The admiral was on board of. When they had done this three times they headed for Chapel and remained for some time, and all were expecting them to start bombing, but they did not. I suppose they found out just what was doing behind the Chinese lines and then reported results. This morning the British troops landed from the troopship Lancashire, some 250 in all, and they were really sent here to relieve another body of men who were going to England. Now they are detained by the British Government. My, they made some sight as they marched up Broadway with bands playing and full kit on back. It was a muddy day, and by the time they had got to the garden bridge from the old Ningpo wharf you would have thought someone had been throwing buckets of water over them. They marched to the racetrack, and then half of them were sent right up to the front to join the other British troops, while the others put their kit in shipshape.

GREAT SIGHT

To see the Chinese out seeing the troops march up Broadway was a sight for the gods, believe me. That the Chinese have the wind up there is no manner of doubt. They are milling all day and all going toward the French town for protection. The poor devils are all innocent, but have to suffer. The Garden Bridge yesterday was one solid mass of humanity. They were in motor trucks, motor cars, rickshaws and wheelbarrows. It was painful to witness, to put it in a mild form. Then came the poorer classes that could not afford any of the above items to shift their feet, and so they had to walk, some with as many as six children trailing after them, while the good-man had their few possessions slung on a bamboo pole balanced on his weary way onward to God knows where.

All trams stopped to-day. Sentries posted at Garden Bridge for the first time by the Japanese on the Hongkew side. It looks as if the Japanese have taken over the whole of Hongkew. If the Japanese get it in the neck during the next fighting and they have to retreat, I do not know what we will do in the eastern districts. All we have to do is to wait.

Have quite a lot of persons in the house that were driven out of the North Szechuen Road sector, and it is a case of them sleeping on the floor or wherever they can find a corner. The worst is some had to clear out with only what they stood in, poor blighters. Anyhow, we are doing the best we can to get over the rough situation, and if they leave us alone we shall be all O.K. The cook came to me and said: "Master, how fashion we going to feed them?" I told the wife good old salt meat and bread with tea. Tinned milk for the young children. We have done very well to-day, as we can get a little meat in the market and some scruff of so-called cabbage, and so the cook made thick good vegetable soup and the meat was cooked along with some Chinese food, so we are all O.K. 10 to 11 p.m.—Heavy sniping going on and what sounds to us like big gun fire, but it is a long way off and we are uncertain what it is. Dixwell Police Station taken over by the Japanese and the force disbanded and then told to scatter, which no doubt they did promptly.

February 1—Everything outwardly is quite calm and collected. No gun-fire and a few snipers' shots now and again. Hundreds of thousands (not counting the point on the little bit) milling their way seemingly to the French town. God knows where the poor devils are going to rest unless they bunk down in the various roadways, for I am certain that they will not have any other place to go. One thing stands out ahead of all else, and that is the robbery going on in the charges of all kinds of things that move on two or more wheels. A trip by motor car to the French town is $25. Now some say they are asking $30 for the same haul in advance. Rickshaws are nothing less than $2. That is the market rate for the French town nothing less than $2.

At the present time there is a kind of truce on, but how long it will last is, of course, another question. What our general thoughts are if the truce breaks down and the Japs start bombing are better left unsaid. They are said to have quite a lot of airplanes at Woonung.

February 2—About airships, the morning paper gives the total number of bombers and gunning or fighting planes 130, and all ready to start if the Chinese start fighting. It is very dull and small rain is falling, and so that is not nice weather for airships to be flying about, as they cannot pick up clearly anything that they may be after. The total number of sailors ashore is said to be 4,500 in all, but they do not seem to have any big guns with them but hundreds of all kinds of machine guns. By missing the North Railway Station in their first offensive they lost out, and now they will find it a hard nut to crack. To-day's papers say the Cumberland, which is at Hongkong refitting, has orders to rush work. The Kent and Berwick are coming. Here we have the Buffords and Cornwall. Then a big bunch of the BEE class (light cruisers) with their two six-inch guns.

4 p.m.—Two armored cars full of marines, one coming down the seaward road, the other going up, with the men pointing their guns to the roofs of houses ready for snipers. But none showed up, so all was well.

MAKES FAST TRIP

February 3—The Berwick arrived with troops, doing the passage from Hongkong in forty hours, not bad going for the 800 miles. The troops were Argyle and Highlanders and a unit of the Indian Big Gun Battery. They landed at 10 a.m. on the Bund fore-shore. Very heavy gunfire in Chapel direction. The roads are still blocked by refugees coming from everywhere and making walking difficult. Japanese sentries all up and down Broadway. The shops are refusing to take any paper notes of any kind, even Hongkong and Shanghai bank notes, as they say the banks have not enough silver to change notes with. The result was I had to hike to the bank to get silver dollars and hike home again with that little load, and was jolly glad to get back, as my hands were cramped holding same in pocket of coat. Barbed wire up close to Hongkong and Shanghai Bank in Hongkew and no entrance to seaward road there.

BOMBARDMENT OF WOOSUNG

No post offices functioning at present. They will end up in opening a foreign one if they don't get a move on, as we have not been able to post a letter or receive any mail since the trouble started. Woosung is being bombed by the Japanese. The Chinese opened fire first by what the captain of the Fengtien says. He was passing at the time and he saw a Japanese gunboat and the Woonung forts when they opened up on the Japanese, and he had to ring for "full speed," as he says that had he tried to turn around he would have been blown out of the water. As it was, he escaped two falling shells by the skin of his teeth, he says. Soon after the Japs started all shipping going out was turned back for safety. Big fire raging in Chapel, the flames going 200 feet in the air at least.

February 4—Woonung forts reported captured and a shambles, but all firing was over by 3 p.m. Heavy gun fire from the Japanese side, but no shells fell from the morning. To-day there was a heavy fall of snow, the first of the winter, but it was water before it touched the ground.

The streets are in a fearful mess. Firing again reported at Woonung. Blue-jackets landed to investigate result of feeling among all Europeans, as big gun fire started at 6 a.m. and has continued all day. At one time it was said the Cantonese troops had penetrated the Japanese front, but this turned out to be false news, and a good job for us. It was the Japanese that had broken through the Chinese lines and went in to a depth of one and a-half miles and then returned to their former positions. The Chinese counter-attacked, but with no results. Bombers were at work all the day and did fearful havoc.

SKY A RED GLARE

Fires were started in many sections in Chapel and the sky was one red glare for miles. I could see at least six major fires, and how many small ones there were it was impossible to count. One at the North Station seemed to be the worst, as it covered a big area and flames could be seen leaping for hundreds of feet in the air from my vantage point, i.e., my attic window. I suppose that we are roughly about three miles from the fighting front.

February 5—Japanese air machines are up, but no sounds heard from bombs dropping, and no doubt they are only having a look-see. Hongkew is a city of the dead. Ninety per cent of the population have made tracks for either the French town or the British Settlement. God only knows where the hundreds of thousands have found places to sleep, let alone eat. One Japanese machine brought down by anti-aircraft gun. U.S. transport Chaumont arrived with 1,500 men from Manila about noon.

A big Japanese transport arrived, said to have 4,000 men on board and some very heavy guns which they have lacked before. All men said to be landed about midnight so that no one could see what was taking place. Further pounding of ruined buildings. Post office trying to function, so it is said.

EVERYTHING DEAD

February 6—To-day is China's New Year's Day, and what a rotten one for China. The shops are closed and I do not see anything to buy there. Everything is dead. By this time the Japanese have certainly made some advance a few Chinese, no matter what others report. When Mr. White left home bullets were striking the front and back of his house. By paper reports Chapel is a mass of broken walls and smoking ruins and is just like the battle-scarred Western front during the Great War. The Japanese official reports of killed and wounded are close and I do not know if I do not think that if one put it at 1,000 one would be far out. To-day it is cold and snowing, so we are getting our winter late this season.

POLISH POLICE CAPTURE GANG
Vilna, Poland, March 3.—The police yesterday evening announced they had arrested all the members of a Capone "branch gang" which kidnaped a first was eight-year-old son of a pawnshop owner recently. The authorities said they had found the boy and returned him to his parents.

The gang, officers said, went under the name of the Gold Flag gang and they asserted it was organized by a man named Krawiec, a former member of the Alphonse Capone gang of Chicago, who recently arrived in Poland from the United States.

He depends on COFFEE to help him meet his big responsibilities

But he knows that flavor depends on a blend of the highest grade beans

OFTEN he is called upon to make important business decisions. He meets these situations with serenity, cool judgment, sound sense. Coffee is one of his daily satisfactions. He loves that full, fragrant aroma that comes only from the highest quality coffee. Inferior grades of coffee lack it.

NEW DEBTS BILL

Ottawa, March 3.—First reading was given in the Commons yesterday after noon to a bill concerning debts due the government. The object of the measure is to secure statutory authority to confirm a practice whereby when sums of money are due provincial governments, municipalities, corporations, public officers, companies or private persons, who are entitled to receive sums of money from the government, the Minister of Justice, when he is of the opinion that such body or individual is indebted to the Dominion Government, may retain the amount of such indebtedness from the statutory commitment.

KIANGWAN IS NOW IN RUINS

Correspondent Describes War Torn Village Between Shanghai and Woosung

By MORRIS J. HARRIS

Associated Press Staff Correspondent
Shanghai, March 2.—The once prosperous village of Kiangwan emerged from the grinding mill of war to-day with nothing left in it but a mass of brick, ashes and torn bodies.

Following closely on the Japanese advance, I entered the village this morning and picked my way through the wreckage from one end of the town to the other. The havoc was indescribable.

Streets which once teemed with life are now nothing but lanes of desolation through which Japanese stretchers bear the dead and the dying. The entrance to the village was a scene of horror. The bombs, shells and fire worked with terrible effect.

The central portion of the village, once thickly built up, is practically leveled. Only a few stark walls rise out of it, like monuments in a cemetery. Many bodies were still visible to-day around the shell pits.

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS DESTROYED

All public structures are in ruins. The splendid buildings of Kiangwan University are no more. A statue of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, Father of the Chinese Republic, still stands at what was the entrance to the college, but the face of the statue has been shot away.

A trench surrounding its base was littered with empty rifle shells. This was the spot where the little Spartan band of Chinese held out for weeks against the force of the Japanese attack.

KICK THEIR PRISONER
As I followed a path through the town I passed a group of Japanese soldiers who were escorting a captured Chinese soldier to the rear. As the prisoner was led by the Japanese camp fires, the soldiers lined the road to kick and beat him.

I got the scare of my life while passing along a wall in the heart of the village. Although no human being was in sight the stillness was suddenly broken by a terrific burst of gunfire close at hand. I dropped to the ground and flattened myself out, then peeped around the wall. A large battery of Japanese artillery was stationed there.

FORCED TO RETURN
I got another thrill when a group of Japanese soldiers, armed with bayonets, suddenly grabbed me by the arm and started leading me in the direction in which the Chinese captive had been taken. They led me into the quarters of a Japanese officer in one of the ruined buildings. He scrutinized my credentials very far toward the front and I must go back.

At the Red Cross relay station a constant stream of shattered bodies of Chinese soldiers was coming in. They were wrapped in army blankets, their torn faces covered with "tin hats," army physicians examined each one and officially declared them dead before they were loaded into trucks for the last journey to the crematorium.

Deaths Listed By Shanghai Court

Shanghai, March 3.—Statistics in the Shanghai District Court revealed to-day that 100 or more Chinese civilians had been killed by stray shells falling inside the International Settlement or by Japanese armed attacks since hostilities broke out January 28.

The report said more than 100 Chinese died of gunshot or stab wounds. The remainder were victims of artillery fire.

WHEAT SALE PROPOSAL

Washington, March 3.—The United States Farm Board and its subsidiaries would be forbidden to sell wheat for less than 81 cents a bushel prior to January 1, 1933, under a bill introduced yesterday by Senator Gore, Democrat, Oklahoma. The bill would not, however, prevent sales which were counteracted by immediate replacement.

All wheat held by the board on January 1, 1933, would be disposed of during that year in equal monthly amounts.

Canada-Poland Trade Discussion

Ottawa, March 3.—Negotiations are proceeding between Canada and Poland with regard to concluding a treaty between the two countries, Premier Bennett so informed the Commons yesterday afternoon.

With regard to a question from P. F. Casgrain, Liberal Whip, as to why the treaty had not been concluded, the Prime Minister stated he understood from his last conversation with the representative of Poland that negotiations had been proceeding for some time. "Live in all," so he could not make any further reply.

Alberta Premier Suggests Inter-provincial Discussion on Government Houses

Canadian Press

Edmonton, March 3.—Readiness to discuss with representatives of other provinces the desirability of some plan which would save the governments the cost of maintaining government houses was expressed in the Legislature by Premier J. E. Brownlee.

Some plan might be worked out along constitutional lines in a national way which would lead to a different system in connection with the office of the King's representative in the provinces, the Premier indicated. He referred to the situation in Ontario, however, where the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is acting as administrator of the province, no lieutenant-governor having been appointed to the vacancy in that office.

The Legislature was at the time discussing estimates and had the item for expenses of the lieutenant-governor's office under consideration.

START INQUIRY INTO GAS PRICE

Imperial Oil Men First to Be Heard By Commons Committee

Canadian Press

Ottawa, March 3.—The Imperial Oil Company Limited is to be the first party heard by the banking and commerce committee of the Commons in its inquiry into the alleged high price of gasoline in Canada. Representatives of that company will be present at the next meeting of the committee Tuesday.

The committee held a meeting yesterday under the chairmanship of R. C. Matthews, Conservative, Toronto Centre, to determine what procedure it would take in inquiring into the gasoline price—as requested in a resolution passed by the House and sponsored by Dr. Thomas Donnelly, Liberal, Willow Bunch, Sask.

Chiropody Bill In Alberta House

Canadian Press

Edmonton, March 3.—Second reading was given by the Alberta Legislature yesterday to an act to regulate the practice of chiropody. The measure was introduced as a private bill by George MacLachlan, U.E.A. Pembina, and received some support from members of his party. Vigorous opposition was provided by Dr. W. A. Atkinson, Conservative, Edmonton, and Dr. W. H. McCall, Conservative, Calgary.

Premier J. E. Brownlee approved of giving second reading in order to give interested parties a chance to appear before the House in committee to make representations, while at the same time he reserved his right later to pass on the bill.

The House discussed in committee of the whole the agreement for taking over the Alberta provincial police by R.C.M.P. No alterations were made in the clauses.

Canada-Poland Trade Discussion

Ottawa, March 3.—British and other outside investments in Canada amount to about $6,125,950,000, according to revised figures by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Total business capital employed in Canada is $17,500,000,000, exclusive of private capital in domestic enterprises, such as farms, homes, etc. About 65 per cent is owned in Canada.

This estimate is based upon more complete information as to the distribution of ownership of the securities of firms located in Canada in 1929, obtained through the census of industry and other investigations. The national wealth is rated at about $30,840,000,000.

Of the foreign investments in Canada, $1,194,670,000 was in Dominion, provincial and municipal securities, $1,674,865,000 in railways, $628,230,000 in other public utilities, $520,248,000 in the pulp, paper and lumber industry, $281,500,000 in mining, $456,915,000 in metal industries, $492,376,000 in all other industries, $250,000,000 in merchandising establishments, $200,022,000 in finance and insurance, and $338,033,000 in land and mortgages.

Of the total investment in Canada by foreign countries, the largest share, $3,726,745,000, was held by people of the United States. British held $2,228,025,000 and other countries $171,188,000.

Sixty-seven per cent of British investments are in government securities and public utilities, chiefly railways. State investments are 50 per cent in government securities and public utilities and 50 per cent in other securities, chiefly industrial and mining, while $6,125,950,000 appears to be a large sum of indebtedness incurred by Canada in favor of outside countries, comments The Bureau. It should be viewed in the light of the following facts:

1. Outside countries have in the neighborhood of $1,500,000,000 invested in branch plants located in Canada.

2. Canadian investments abroad are estimated as amounting to $1,781,345,000 on January 1, 1930.

3. It is estimated by The Bureau that the total business capital employed in Canada amounts to $17,500,000,000. This sum includes the bonded indebtedness of the Dominion, provincial and municipal governments, investments in railways, all manufacturing concerns, mines and metal industries, public utilities, trading establishments, finance, insurance, land and mortgage. It does not include private capital in domestic enterprises such as farms, homes, etc. Of this sum it is estimated that 65 per cent, or $11,375,000,000, is owned in Canada, 13 per cent, or $2,228,000,000, in Great Britain, 21 per cent, or $3,726,745,000, in the United States, and 1 per cent, or $171,200,000, in other countries.

4. Canada's national wealth is probably in the neighborhood of $30,840,000,000. Foreign gross investments in Canada represent only slightly more than 20 per cent of this amount.

GOOD ADVICE IGNORED

IN PARLIAMENT LAST YEAR MR. MAC-kenzie King urged the government to appoint a national commission to advise it on the question of unemployment, but his advice was not taken. Premier Bennett demanded and was given a blank cheque to deal with the situation as circumstances seemed to warrant. The measure authorizing this—the Unemployment and Farm Relief Act—became, as the Liberal leader reminded the House yesterday, as "dead as Julius Caesar" on February 29. The government proposes to revive it and let it live again until May 2. Still Parliament has no policy to consider for dealing with unemployment. "Mr. King once again has urged the appointment of a national commission to advise the government on remedial enactments" or on what may be necessary in the way of appropriations. "On such a body he would have representatives of labor, farmers, the Union of Canadian Municipalities, the provinces, the Red Cross and other organizations with special knowledge of conditions."

Whether Mr. Bennett will recognize that economic conditions can not be helped by the methods which have proved ineffective during the last twelve months is very doubtful. The figures of his own Department of Labor show that there are more persons idle in Canada now than there were when he obtained his blank cheque a year ago. But if any further argument in support of Mr. King's proposal were needed, it can be found in the testimony of Hon. R. W. Bruhn, British Columbia's Minister of Public Works, before the unemployment committee of the provincial Legislature yesterday.

Mr. Bruhn's story does not make pleasant reading. He told the committee that a programme of relief calling for the expenditure of $8,000,000 had been discussed with the Dominion government last June. In August a programme of 3,425,000 man days was discussed with Hon. H. H. Stevens, following which approval was received to proceed with work on certain defined highways from Senator Robertson, who also suggested the municipalities be urged to provide work on local undertakings for married men and for single men with work in camps.

On October 13 a schedule was drafted for an expenditure of $6,675,000 on provincial work, most of it for highways. Subsequently Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, went to Ottawa on various matters of provincial concern and discovered that the $6,675,000 had been cut first to $3,500,000 and afterward to $3,250,000—the first evidence that obligations entered into between the province and the Dominion would not be lived up to by the latter.

With such a variation of plans and the province faced with the fact that it already had spent $3,000,000 of the original schedule, Mr. Bruhn told the committee there was nothing left for him to do but close down the camps until he could see what other arrangements it was possible to make. Hence, he himself proceeded to Ottawa and took the matter up with Senator Robertson, then Minister of Labor, to whom he explained that the provincial authorities had exhausted their resources. With this predicament facing them the two Ministers reached an agreement for the spending of $500,000 a month for four months on the basis of the Dominion government paying half and the province paying half, so that work already begun might be continued. The federal government agreed to advance all this money, the province giving treasury notes for its half share. Mr. Bruhn informed the committee that THIS AGREEMENT WAS NOT CARRIED OUT.

"I came back and laid the matter before the finance committee," said Mr. Bruhn. "We expected Ottawa to remit on a certain date. As I understand, it never came. We then carried on with direct relief. Men are in camp still and receiving food and lodging. Arrangements have been made in the last few days to put the men at work to earn an allowance of $7.50 per month."

In his speech in the House of Commons on Tuesday Mr. Mackenzie King charged the Bennett government with having utterly mismanaged the whole unemployment problem, that the ministry had demonstrated its "impotence, incapacity and total incompetence" to offer a solution, that unemployment had become a national crisis and yet the government had presented no policy to relieve distress. How essential it is therefore—not only in the interests of the unemployed themselves but in the economic interests of the whole Dominion—to appoint a national advisory commission such as the Liberal leader again has urged upon the administration is reflected in the most unsatisfactory history of the relations between the province and the authorities at Ottawa which Mr. Bruhn gave to the provincial unemployment committee yesterday.

A DEBT PAYMENT PLAN

ARTHUR H. FLEMING, A NATIVE OF Canada now living in California, recently issued a call to 400,000 persons to pay $1,000 a year for five years and thereby write off all the war loan obligations to the United States. He asked that all pledges be filled out and mailed by February 23, to be made payable on July 4 of each year. He suggested they be called "George Washington Birthday Gifts." Ten years ago Mr. Fleming gave the bulk of the "many million dollars" he made in the manufacture of lumber to found the California Institute at Pasadena.

Nothing has appeared in the press dispatches to indicate what success has attended Mr. Fleming's appeal. There are no doubt many more than 400,000 citizens in the United States who would not miss a thousand a year for five years as much as most of us would miss ten dollars. But the present time would hardly seem propitious for a "touch" of this character, even though the bi-centenary year of Washington's birth has been considered the psychological time for it. The author of the appeal, however, has practiced the principle of doing good with his material wealth and evidently is ready to do it again.

SWEEPSTAKES BILL REJECTED

THE REJECTION OF SENATOR BARN-ard's bill to legalize sweepstakes for hospitals in the Senate yesterday was a foregone conclusion, for there was not the slightest evidence that the members of that branch of Parliament had undergone a change of heart on this matter since last session when it was first introduced and promptly killed. Indeed, the hostility to the proposal appears to have been strengthened in the interim, for the majority against it yesterday was larger than it was last year. The vote this time was thirty-six to twenty, while last session it was thirty-four to twenty-two. If the bill had passed the Senate and gone to the House of Commons for consideration it would have been rejected even more decisively.

Senator Barnard's concern for the welfare of our hospitals is undeniable, but sweepstakes not only would not help that worthy object but they would actually injure it. Moreover, hospitals may very properly object to being made an excuse for legalizing sweepstakes, since they are quite aware that many people who want them made lawful are very much less interested in hospitals than they are in sweepstakes. At a matter of fact a proposal of this kind probably would make more headway if it omitted all reference to hospitals and charities, and stood upon its own merits as legalizing a device which its advocates claim is much less harmful to the public morals and purse than many other forms of gambling not prohibited by the Criminal Code. Certainly sweepstakes are much less harmful than the orgy of stock market gambling in which a large part of society has been engaging with the benediction of parliaments, legislatures and congresses, while it is innocence personified when contrasted with the highly-lauful stock-watering enterprises conducted by some of our leading lights of high finance, by which the public has been soaked countless millions.

As far as hospitals are concerned the state will have to recognize, sooner or later, that the cost of the care of the sick who are unable to pay for it themselves will have to be met by some form of contributory general tax, not only because it is a humanitarian duty, but also because it is good business for the state to preserve the health of its people—its best asset. The most effective method of solving the hospital problem so far advanced is state health insurance. A British Columbia commission has reached this conclusion after prolonged thorough investigation.

TOO LATE

UNITED STATES SENATOR WESLEY Jones, of anti-Sockeye Salmon Treaty fame, has just introduced a bill in the Senate at Washington by which he would create an American Peace Commission of five members to be appointed by the President and to be paid $7,500 a year each. The object of such a body would be to "promote peace by means of education," working with other departments of the United States government, and with other nations.

The originators and the senatorial sponsor of this measure have not aroused the least bit of enthusiasm in the editorial breast of The Seattle Daily Times; our contemporary calls the bill "sadly foolish." It does not question its good intent; but it refers to the various agencies which already exist—not to mention our neighbor's ardent desire for peace—for the purpose of bringing about a better understanding between all the nations of the world. "What more could be given us," it asks in conclusion, "by five home-grown commissioners working for $7,500 a year apiece?"

We are afraid this is a little bit too late in the day to talk about appointing another commission to promote peace by education. Everybody thought the Great War was the one lesson the world needed to cure it of its bad habits. But if that "education" has not sunk in—and it does not seem to have done—it will take more than a $7,500-organization in the United States to drive it home. The events in the Orient during the last few weeks are a sad commentary upon the sincerity of nations which bind themselves to solemn pledges.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

CALLS THE TUNE

The Boston Christian Science Monitor

When cities, states or nations allow themselves to fall into a situation where they must go to the bankers to borrow short-term funds which they have not made clear provision to repay, the banker inevitably has some authority to call the tune to which the money shall be spent.

SKIRTS AND PROSPERITY

The Ottawa Citizen

Paris announces that skirts will go up this spring—only a bit, but the hems will be higher. This is one of the most encouraging announcements we have come across in many days. It foreshadows a sympathetic movement on the part of business. It may mean that the corner has been turned.

If you are a follower of the feminine mode, you will have noted a curious phenomenon. It is that the rise and fall in the length of ladies' skirts follow closely the rise and fall in the volume of business.

AN EDITOR OF TWELVE YEARS

The New York Times

American school boys and girls often get out school newspapers which amuse their elders and delight their own young souls until they fall by the wayside after a few weeks. Little English children apparently like to do the same thing. One young lady editor of twelve gets a serious "news note" in The World's Press News. She announced in her first issue that "The Will of the Wisp" will be devoted to literature, science, the stage, finance, and etc., for children. It "stands for clear journalism and will always be found on the side of an upright policy."

Some of the departments mentioned did not figure in the first issue. The society reporter explained that "we are so busy at school just now" that nothing of frivolous interest is going on in "our set." The editor planned a large society section for the holiday number. She is the daughter of Mr. Gordon Seifridge, who, she mentions, also edited a paper at the age of twelve.

Across The Bay

The fire glowing beneath breaks through to the surface in a spot or two—Mr. Pattullo makes an offer—Mr. Pooley finds it amusing—Mr. Manson smells a rat and worse—and we don't please ourselves much.

By H. B. W.

THIS CAPITAL SEETHED on Wednesday with a fever and a fret which this observer has not noted before in a dozen years. But you would hardly have suspected it from the face of the House. The House was its same delightful ineffectual self. But even in the House there were signs and portents which a seasoned wit could distinguish, little flashes which showed the fire glowing beneath, fire which cannot be suppressed much longer.

THE HOUSE, as it has done every day this session, only went through the motions of sitting. It had business elsewhere, chiefly in the committee on unemployment, where the big news of the session is rapidly developing. In the House nothing occurred but a little talk on the new election act, which provided a few interesting moments but not dazzling enlightenment.

MR. PATTULLO HANDLED the new election act rather kindly, having discussed it in private with its parent, Mr. Hinchliffe. Mr. Hinchliffe, it appeared, had done his best to convince Mr. Pattullo of the pure and innocent character of the new election act, but he hadn't succeeded very well. Mr. Pattullo, for all the logic of Mr. Hinchliffe, could not bring himself to believe that the government had no private motives in the new election act. Heaven forbid, of course, that he should suggest that the government would attempt any evil, but—well, you never know about the unexpected results of an election act, especially one drawn by such a master of extraordinary remedies as Mr. Hinchliffe, which complicate the parent of the bill acknowledged with a gracious smile. And altogether it appeared that Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Hinchliffe had agreed to disagree in the most friendly and satisfactory fashion.

THE POINT, HOWEVER, said Mr. Pattullo, was that the voters of the province were most incomplete and contained only the names of the electors who voted in 1928, when the government was returned. Noting which, Mr. Pattullo offered to accept the verdict of those same electors who had defeated his government four years ago. These electors, he believed, had seen the folly of their ways and were anxious to use their original sense. This brought a hollow laugh from the treasury benches and made Mr. Pooley feel jolly for the rest of the afternoon.

PERHAPS THIS LAUGH spurred Mr. Pattullo on. Anyway, he came back, with sharper tone, and announced that the Opposition intended to force the government to the country this year. Under present unsatisfactory conditions, with a government staggering to its doom, the country needed an election and, one supposed, Mr. Pattullo, who would be satisfied with the verdict, whatever it might be. Again the treasury benches laughed and Mr. Pooley almost fell out of his chair. Back again came Mr. Pattullo with a challenge to the government to go before the electors as soon as it liked. Needless to say, the challenge was not accepted. This is no time to go to the country. The going is easy. It's the coming back that is so hard.

IN THE END, Mr. Pattullo pronounced his final verdict on the Talmie Government. Individually, he said, they were good-looking and agreeable fellows, for whom he had conceived a great and abiding affection; but collectively, well, Mr. Pattullo could think of nothing more damning to say than that there seemed to be something wrong with them, a superb generalization which might mean anything and probably meant a lot more than that. Mr. Speaker Davis didn't think it was quite germane to the subject, but who cared about a little thing of the sort, when there was no business for the House to go on with anyway and when everybody was having such a good time?

MR. POOLEY DEFENDED the legislative child of his colleague, Mr. Hinchliffe. He argued that the present electoral system was so defective that in the last federal election thousands who had no right to vote were on the list. He could see no harm in the government.

MR. MANSON, as usual, was not ready to view the government with the same friendly consideration as his chief. To Mr. Manson politics is a running fight from beginning to end with no quarter given and none asked. To Mr. Manson every act of the enemy is likely to prove iniquitous and the more innocent it appears the more iniquitous is it likely to prove on examination. On examination, therefore, Mr. Manson found the new election act about as iniquitous as it could be, but this did not surprise Mr. Manson. Nothing about this government would surprise Mr. Manson, unless it was an act of common decency. It did not surprise Mr. Manson after what had happened in the Columbia by-election, when he had seen nothing "grosser" in his life. It must have been pretty bad. Everything was so bad, in fact, that Mr. Manson smelled a general election in the air.

IT WAS WHEN Mr. Manson came to the registration of the foreign-born for voting purposes that the underlying temper of the House flashed to the top for unpleasant and rather unnecessary moment. Mr. Twigg, whose affection for Mr. Manson burns with a vehement flame, remarked across the aisle that Mr. Manson himself had been born in the United States. Mr. Manson reported, with less heat than might well have been expected, that he had been born in the United States, but as a British subject, of old British stock, and knew more about British constitutional matters than some other honorable members. Mr. Pattullo interjected the information that Premier Talmie had been born in the United States also, which, according to the Parliamentary Guide, is wrong. He was born, says the Parliamentary Guide, in the grey stone house in Sanich where he is convalescing from his illness at this moment.

ALL THIS DIDN'T MATTER much, it had nothing to do with the election act. It was small potatoes. But it showed you what we are doing down across the Bay to meet the crisis of these times, and it showed you how tempers are sharpening, how patience is growing short. And so after Mr. Manson, speaking on the election act, had dragged in many other things by the heels, including the financial state of the municipalities, and the accusation that Mr. Hinchliffe was no true democrat, which Mr. Speaker considered out of order, since it imputed motives (oh, precious Parliamentary phrase) we quit early to go on with the detailed investigation of unemployment relief, not much enlightened, not very happy, not very well pleased with ourselves.

"SWEEPSTAKES"

To the Editor:—You are to be commended for your timely editorial which appeared in yesterday's Times. You may rest assured you have given expression to the sentiments of the great majority of right-thinking citizens. The three aldermen who voted in the negative are also to be congratulated for their courageous stand. What of the voters who voted in favour of "sweepstakes"? It is difficult to understand their viewpoint. One does not wish to be uncharitable. It would seem, however, that if these gentlemen have no higher ethical standard for the maintenance of our hospitals, they are not the type of men to be entrusted with the management of the affairs of this city. No one will deny them the right to their individual opinions, but they have no right to use their official position to assist in a species of propaganda that seeks to influence Parliament to legalize a form of gambling called by the name of "sweepstakes." They were not elected for that purpose. The voters gave certain Aldermen Williams' statement that "90 per cent of the people of this city favor sweepstakes" is grossly untrue. In any event, if the gentlemen have no higher ethical standard for the maintenance of our hospitals, they are not the type of men to be entrusted with the management of the affairs of this city. United Support For B.C. School Boards

Support Trustees' Fight Against Merger
Council Control Would Wreck
Model System, Legislative Committee Told

Views against the proposal of the union of British Columbia municipalities for one elected municipal body to try out the function of municipal government and for councils and school boards to be merged where the plan is favored by a referendum were aired before the municipal committee of the legislature yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hayward, chairman of the municipal committee, which has already ended the principle of the motion, gave permission of the House for the committee to sit while the House was in session so that representatives of the School Trustees Association, B.C. Teachers' Federation and Parent-Teacher Association, who had come to Victoria for a conference, could be heard. They had been referred to the committee by Hon. Joshua B. Smith, Minister of Education, since the committee had drafted its resolution which, it was mentioned, was subject to change.

DIFFERENCE

Only difference of opinion in the House for school boards to maintain their separate identity during the after-noon discussion before the committee was by Reeve Crouch of Saanich, who challenged a comment of one speaker that no municipality would vote in favor of a referendum abolishing school boards by stating Saanich would overwhelmingly endorse it. The speaker also took issue with another speaker who asked how many aldermen or councillors would run for office if it was not for the indemnity.

FEARS VERDICT

The note of the objection to the merger was sounded by J. S. Gordon, superintendent of education of Vancouver. The speaker had been tried forty years ago and had failed, he said. Claiming the present system was a success, he said, a referendum would disturb the popular mind by an indication the system had failed. A snap verdict of the pie, some of whom would not study the problem, would set the clock back forty years.

SINCEREFEDERATION

E. Dush, a member of the executive of the B.C. Teachers' Association, said the Confederation of British Columbia school system had been held up as an example for the Dominion, and was against interference.

GEORGEY, CHAIRMAN OF THE VICTORIA

School trustees, claimed there was no mandate for the proposed change. He believed that throughout the province there was general satisfaction with the present system of school administration. As proof of the confidence of the public in school trustees he referred to his own election for thirty-one years and to J. L. Beckwith's election for twelve years.

"On only two occasions can I recall a retiring trustee being defeated, and on both occasions reasons could readily be found for their non-success," he commented.

CONFIDENCE IN TRUSTEES
No department was so close to the home as the school, and if any fault were to be found with it it would soon have found expression. The main reason why trustees enjoyed the confidence of the public, he thought, was because they gave their services gratuitously. He felt sure any departure from the present system would meet with great public disapproval.

"You are sitting on a magazine," he warned. "Something is going to explode if you interfere with the successful operation of the school system. There will be a row from one end of the province to the other."

Many councillors were elected, he proceeded, merely to enjoy the monthly grant. They had no particular interest in the schools. To change the system would mean a loss of efficiency, retardation, which meant economic loss—a loss to the pupil and increased cost to the municipality.

R. H. Neelands, chairman of the Vancouver School Board, said the Vancouver Teachers' Association was opposing the proposed change, basing its opinion on observation of the work of councils and school boards. The trustees had a specific purpose, while the councillors had many matters to attend to, he said. The proposed change would be a backward step.

TRUSTEES AND ALDERMEN

J. L. Beckwith recalled the case of a Victoria alderman seeking re-election, running for both the school board and the council. He was rejected for the council and elected for the school board. From the school board, where there was no remuneration, he retired in three weeks.

Ira Dilworth, principal of the Victoria High School, speaking for a B.C. Teachers' Federation delegation, said the change would have a serious effect on the educational system of the province. The present system had met with general approval, as evidenced by the return of trustees by electors fully understanding the policies they stood for. To change the system might mortgage the future and draw down upon the people who endorse the principle put forward by the municipal union the curses of a generation to come. It was a wise provision to separate educational matters from the danger of being victimized by party politics in localities. A move in the direction suggested would open the door of interfering with the educational progress of the province.

HARRY CHARLESWORTH, SECRETARY OF THE federation, voiced similar views and quoted operation of school boards in England to refute the claim the plan proposed was in operation there.

PARENT-TEACHERS

Mrs. A. E. Dalmage, provincial chairman of the Parent-Teacher Association, voiced objections of that body. The principle was just as sensible, she said, as if it started with the school board being handled by the council, the council by the province, the province by the Dominion and the Dominion by the Mother Country.

Answering W. R. Rutledge's question as to what was the fear of a referendum if school boards were so popular, some of the opponents replied the expense, others a snap judgment of the electors not properly considering the matter. Chaos would be brought about by the change suggested and how would order be restored, Mr. Charlesworth asked.

"There would be safeguards," the chairman replied.

"It might result in Equivalents' unfortunate position with poor parents," commented Mr. Jay. If there were a referendum there should be an early opportunity for the electors to recall the referendum. In any event he thought the Department of Education should accept the responsibility of a decision.

WILL RESTORE CITIZENSHIP

Snake-charmer After Several Deportations From U.S. to Be Canadian Again

Associated Press
 Fargo, N.D., March 3.—Alice Penette, twenty-four, world rover, snake-charmer during fair weather and practical nurse in winters, a few weeks ago a woman without a country, was removed from the county jail here to-day and is to have her citizenship in Canada restored.

Taken before a federal commissioner, she was allowed to sign her own bond for her release on a charge of unlawfully entering the United States. The charge against her probably will be dropped. She was taken to Grand Forks by immigration officials and is to be taken to Winnipeg. Officials to-day said arrangements had been made between the immigration department and the Canadian government for her return to Canada, where she was born.

Mrs. Penette left her Canadian home when a girl, for the United States. She was arrested and deported. A short time later she again entered the States and again was deported. The third time she entered she married Claude Penette, an American-born citizen. Together they traveled with carnivals during the summers and during the winters she practiced practical nursing. At Christmas, Mrs. Penette attempted to cross the border at Westhope, N.D., to see her parents. She was rejected by Canadian officials. She then went to Detroit, was arrested and brought to Fargo.

Former Film Star To Seek Divorce

Hollywood, March 3.—Allene Pringle, after eight years of casual deliberation, has finally made up her mind. She has announced to-night that she will seek a divorce from the husband whom she has not seen since 1924—Charles Pringle, son of Sir John Pringle, chief privy counselor of the Jamaican government. The divorce, now that her mind is made up, will be "short and sweet," in a manner of speaking, the popular film actress added. It will probably be of the Mexican mail-order variety dispensed at the rate of one a minute. She expects no opposition from her estranged husband, who is on his plantation in Jamaica.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

MILK IS ESSENTIAL FOOD, BUT WATCH AMOUNTS

Milk is one of the essential foods for growing children. It contains all the elements for sustaining human life, protein, carbohydrates, fats, minerals and water. Babies thrive on breast milk and the young of other animals on the milk suited to them. But all young animals arrive at an age when milk alone is not sufficient for their whole diet. It becomes one of the growth foods, not the only one. The child who gets too much milk when he should be getting solid foods is very apt to become undernourished. If he satisfies his appetite with quantities of milk, his teeth for other foods is blunted and his nutrition suffers.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN

We find that the child who still takes a bottle after the first year tends to increase his consumption of milk and refuse solid foods. The child who is allowed to drink as much milk as he wants without limit becomes a progressively more serious feeding problem. Both too little milk and too much milk foster nutritional problems.

Mrs. M. H. B. writes that she has so many questions to ask that she doesn't know where to begin. She feels that I deserve credit for the fact that her nine-months-old baby, who weighs twenty-two pounds and has four teeth, has never been sick a day of his life. She says she has used several of my feeding leaflets. Naturally I feel a gratified glow at having had any part in rearing such a blue-ribbon baby. Here is one of her questions: "I am giving him whole milk, Mrs. Eldred, and I give it just as it comes from the bottle, and warm it and feed it by cup. It seems to agree with him. I took him off his formula gradually. Now he gets about one quart and one pint of milk daily. Is this too much, or isn't it enough? He drinks very well from a cup, but not all of this I cook his cereal in milk and when I think he isn't going to take all of it, I make a cream soup for him. "I give him cereal for breakfast and supper, orange juice, two vegetables, and fruit daily. He gains now from one to one and one-half pounds a month. He certainly is a healthy boy."

AN OVERSIGHT

I am more than pleased that the leaflet on feeding have been so beneficial to baby. But there is one pertinent question in the feeding leaflet which you have overlooked. "One quart of milk daily is the maximum for any child any age." When a child reaches sixteen pounds in weight he can have as much as one quart of milk a day. After that the water and sugar decrease until he gets four eight-ounce bottles, or four cupsful daily of whole milk, but the amount of milk does not increase.

The additional foods do. It is upon them that baby must depend for his increasing nourishment. Four cupsful of milk daily are all your baby needs. If this is too much to wet his appetite for solid foods, decrease it to three cupsful, using the fourth cup in cooking his cereal or the milk soup you mentioned. That extra pint is unnecessary and undesirable.

Everything else is fine. And while we are on the subject of the leaflets, I feel that you have done a very good job. I try to pick them so full of information that one reading is hardly sufficient to make all the points stick.

VISITING GROUP DELIGHTS CLUB

Seattle Artistes in Brilliant Recital Yesterday Evening at Shrine Hall

By G. J. D.

It has been the custom with the Victoria Musical Art Society and the Seattle Ladies' Musical Club to exchange visiting artists. A few days ago the local society sent over three members who gave a concert with the Seattle club, and yesterday evening five artists from the Sound city gave a program at the Shrine auditorium. If the standard shown by the visitors is a criterion of the Seattle club, then it is a very high one, and the 500 or more present, judging from the consistent and hearty applause, enjoyed thoroughly the well-prepared and finely executed musical numbers.

COMPOSER PRESENT

An interesting feature of the evening was the presence of the composer, Amy Worth, and the inclusion of a group of four of her songs, modern in style, effectively written, in which the piano score is not spared, in the program. This group and one other were sung by Margaret Moss Hemion, who obviously understood the meanings of the songs, evincing good style, a cultured voice which she used with judgment and ease. Her first group consisted of songs by Grieg, Signet Lie, Rachmaninoff and Granville Bantock, the latter a classic gem, "The Forest of Languor," and, as usual, plentifully written in the piano part.

Amy Worth accompanied the singer, as she also did in her own four songs, "Summer Afternoon," "A Little Folk Song" and "Sea Mood," which found especial favor. Both composer and singer received an enthusiastic "encore" and those present had the pleasure of hearing another number by Amy Worth, "Little Patrol."

GIFTED PIANIST

Hazel Hammer Hill is a pianist who has talent, artistry and musicianship, and in two groups there were combined a sound technique, a firm touch and a fanciful play of thought. In true mediocrity style her two Brahms numbers, "Intermezzo" and "Ballade" after the Scotch ballad, "Edward," the words were well unified. There was fine passage work in the Chopin "Impromptu," P sharp minor, and clear and forceful was the Rachmaninoff Prelude in C sharp minor. Particularly enjoyable was the "Tempo Di Minuetto" by Zanele, dainty and in the old style. Hammer Hill was the pianist and alluring was Leucosia's Malediction. Miss Hill received generous applause after each of her two groups, and was recalled.

FAMOUS JOCKEY

Before opening the programme Mrs. Walter McFickling, vice-president, read a letter of appreciation from the president, Mrs. J. O. Cameron, and told of the splendid reception given the three visiting artists from the Victoria Musical Art Society to the Seattle club. Mrs. Cameron-McFickling accompanied the musicians to Seattle, representing the president.

NANAIMO COUPLE WED ON TUESDAY

Nanaimo, March 3.—Miss Rose Blin, daughter of Mrs. Debeck, Five Acres, was united in marriage to Mr. James Hoggan, on Tuesday evening at the home of her mother, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. R. Welch.

The bride was given away by her mother, the ceremony being performed under wedding bell, the room being decorated with pink and white carnations.

The bride was attired in white satin and velvet. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie Blin, dressed in pale pink georgette. The bride's mother was attired in navy blue georgette trimmed with beads.

The groom was supported by Mr. Frank Blin, brother of the bride. After the ceremony 200 guests attended a reception at Harewood Hall. The toast to the health of the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. Frank Carrott and was responded to by the groom. Servers of the supper were Mrs. Burnip, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Neil and Mrs. Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoggan left yesterday morning for Vancouver on their honeymoon and will reside on Hamilton Avenue on their return.

when "COLDS CATCH YOUR CHILDREN"

... a cleansing dose of Castoria!

The first step to take when your child catches cold, doctors agree, is to cleanse the body of all accumulated waste and infection-breeding material.

To carry off this poisonous matter, nothing is better than Castoria. It acts gently and mildly enough for children's delicate requirements, and yet it does the work unflinchingly.

Castoria, you know, is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for babies and children. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics of any kind. It is so mild you can safely give it to relieve a colicky baby. Yet, in larger doses, it is an effective regulator for older children. And another help for mothers—children like its taste!

When you find a cold, a little fever, or a digestive upset starting, call in Castoria's kindly help. Your doctor will commend you for wise, prompt action. Don't forget—the genuine Castoria always has the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package. Be sure you get genuine Castoria.

"I wish you—every happiness."
"But, my dear, you don't seem very cheerful!"
The girl's eyelashes lowered. "I keep thinking about my mother," she said. "Father promised me he'd do everything in the world to find her."
"Then he'll keep his promise. Naturally your father would not allow the woman who was once his wife to remain in want. You know him well enough for that!"
For an instant their eyes met.
"Do you love him a great deal?" Celia asked tremulously.
"Oh, my dear—if you only knew!" The girl rose and walked to the window which faced westward. She could stand there with her back toward Evelyn pretending to look out at the night until she forced the tears back. There were great hot drops on her cheek. Celia brushed them aside casually. Then she turned.
"I didn't make plans for the evening," Mrs. Parsons said, glancing up. "Because I thought it would mean a great deal to both of us to keep it uninterrupted. It makes me happy to know you're looking at the situation unselfishly."

from Margaret Rogers. Now—what was there left?
At the earliest possible moment the girl excused herself. Before she left the room Evelyn Parsons drew Celia down beside her and kissed the girl's forehead. "Happy dreams, dear!" she said smiling.
"Good night!" Celia replied and went to her bedroom.
She undressed and got into bed but she could not sleep. It was toward dawn when at last she drifted off into troubled slumber. Consequently she awoke late next morning and there were shadows under the brown eyes.
After she had breakfasted Celia moved about restlessly. At eleven o'clock she put on her hat and told Mrs. Parsons she was going for a walk.
"Order lunch for whenever you like," Evelyn called. "I shan't be here."

Celia's answer was an inaudible murmur as she let herself out of the apartment. She took the elevator to the street and walked to Fifth Avenue. There she mounted a bus and rode to the building where John Mitchell's law office was located. Celia had been only twice before.
She gave her name to the girl in the reception-room. Five minutes later a tall, dark-haired young woman appeared, smiling. She was John Mitchell's secretary.
"Miss Mitchell?" the young woman said, approaching Celia. "I'm sorry. Your father isn't in."

since he and Lila had left her the day before. Instead of answering Celia said, "Hello, Tod. It's nice of you to come."
He approached and took both her hands.
"So that's all the welcome I get. Just 'hello'!" He studied her face intently. "Look here, sweetheart. Hasn't that headache gone yet?"
"Oh, yes. I'm all right."
"Maybe you think so, but I don't think you're looking white as a sheet. Has anything happened?" Tell me, Celia. What is it?"
Jordan's dark eyes were compelling. His voice sympathetic. Skillfully he dramatized the moment.
"There's nothing the matter," Celia persisted. And then, though she had endured hardness and disappointment, kindness proved too much for her. Celia suddenly clung to Tod Jordan, burying her face against his coat front.
"It's everything!" she sobbed.
"Everything's wrong. Oh, Tod, I'm so unhappy I don't know what to do!" She felt Jordan's arms go around her, holding her close.
"Don't darling!" he begged. "Don't cry. Maybe there's some way I can help. You know I'd do anything in the world for you, dear. Please stop crying and tell me all about it."
It was some time before Celia was able to raise her head and speak coherently. The young man led her to the divan. They sat down and it seemed only natural for Jordan's arm to linger about the girl's shoulders.
His manner was comforting and tender. Celia felt the strain under which she had been suffering lessen gradually. Haltingly she told Tod about her mother's disappearance and how the search to find her seemed hopeless.
"There's something else," she confessed. "I can't tell you because I promised not to. Only—well, it looks as though father's going away and I won't be able to stay with him. Grandmother doesn't want me with her. I don't know what's going to happen!"
"But, little girl," Jordan's voice was low and vibrant. "Don't let this matter so seriously affect you. Look at me. Here I let me see your eyes. Lovely eyes that were never meant for tears!"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily And Custer's Candy

(Copyright, 1932, by Howard R. Garis)

Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit, came skipping gaily home from school one day. And when she reached the hollow stump bungalow where she lived with Uncle Wiggily, Bunty looked at the door and saw Nurse Fuzzy Wuzzy in the kitchen.
"Oh, Nurse Jane!" cried Baby Bunty. "I have the grandest, jolliest idea! Really I have!"
"Have you?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper. "That's nice. But how is it that you are home from school ahead of all the others, Bunty?"
"Oh, I was home very fast because I wanted to tell you about my grand idea," Bunty answered.
"Well, what is it?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, who had just finished making a turnip shortcake and very delicious it smelled, if you will kindly believe me.
"I'm going to make some molasses candy!" said Bunty. "Isn't that a grand, jolly idea?"
"Why, it might be," answered Nurse Jane. "But who told you that you could do it?"
"Oh, I told myself!" replied Bunty with a laugh. "Of course I am going to do it!"

"Oh, what smells so good?" asked Custer, sniffing the air.
"It's candy Nurse Jane and I made," Baby Bunty answered. "And I'm going to give you each three pieces."
"Only three pieces?" cried Custer, who was very fond of candy.
"Well, three pieces at first," said Bunty. "After that we'll see what happens." So she gave three pieces of the molasses candy each to Custer and all the others. The bunny children sat in Nurse Jane's kitchen, eating the sweet stuff. Custer ate his three pieces very quickly. Then he looked around for more. He saw that his brother Buster had only eaten one piece and that the other two pieces were on the edge of a chair upon which Buster was sitting.
"I'll just reach over and take one of Buster's pieces," thought Custer. "I'll pay him back when Bunty gives me some more."
Slyly Custer reached over and took one of Buster's candies. Just then Uncle Wiggily hopped into the kitchen and saw what Custer had done. The rabbit gentleman exclaimed:
"Oh, Custer! You shouldn't do that! No, hide Buster's candy that he had taken. Custer slipped it under him and sat on it. 'Now you've done it!' chuckled Uncle Wiggily. 'Let's see you get up!'"
But Custer couldn't get up out of his chair. His warm leg made the piece of candy soft and he was stuck to the chair as if he had sat in some glue. Custer was much surprised.
"Oh! Oh! Oh!" cried sticky Custer. Then they all laughed and Nurse Jane loosened Custer from the chair with warm water and sewer again did he take any of his brother's candy. Baby Bunty made Custer pay back that one piece to Buster, so everything was all right. And if the bread board doesn't try to play lawn tennis with a snowball I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the drum.

HERE'S why so many careful Canadian mothers always choose Princess for washing babies' and children's clothes.

First, Princess is all pure soap and contains no harsh caustics or adulterants. This means that it cannot make little garments irritating to tender skins or be the cause of rashes, as are so many soaps.
Second, Princess keeps colors true and fabrics new. It safeguards shades and textures through many washes.
Third, Princess protects your hands. Don't have red hands! Let Princess keep them soft and white. Princess goes further. Gives you richer suds with far less soap used. Start using it today.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Canned and cured fish always are available in interesting variety and can be utilized in many appetizing dishes. These products are nourishing and make excellent substitutes for fresh seafood, when the latter is not procurable.

Recipes for cooking and serving the forms of preserved or cured seafood are not plentiful, but the following collection of rules is quite unusual and economical.

Canned fish can be used in innumerable "imiting" dishes with no preliminary preparation and is a valuable asset to every "emergency shelf" as well as an effective means toward varying family menus.

Fish mush combines cornmeal and any flaked cooked fish in an attractive dish suitable for breakfast, luncheon or supper.

FISH MUSH
One cup cornmeal, 3 1/2 cups boiling water, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups flaked fish, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Add 1 teaspoon salt to boiling water and slowly stir in cornmeal, stirring constantly. Cook over the flame for ten minutes, stirring to prevent sticking. Then cook over boiling water for three hours. Add remaining salt, pepper and fish with skin and bones removed. Turn into a well-buttered brick loaf pan and let stand overnight or until thoroughly chilled and firm. Cut in slices about 1/2 inch thick and roll in flour. Sauté in hot fat in frying pan until a golden brown.

Scrambled eggs with smoked salmon is a savory dish that could be made in the chafing dish for Sunday night supper or after the theatre.

SCRAMBLED EGGS WITH SMOKED SALMON

One-half pound smoked salmon, 1 cup solid canned tomatoes, 1 sweet green pepper, 2 onions, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 5 eggs.

Cut salmon in thin slices and soak in water for three hours, changing five or six times. Drain. Hold pepper over flame, turning to prevent burning. Scrape off blistered skin, holding pepper under cold water. Cut flesh in shreds, discarding pith and seeds. Melt butter in frying pan, add onions peeled and minced and prepared pepper, and cook until soft. Add tomato and cook a few minutes longer. Place salmon over top of vegetables and cook until it separates into small pieces. Add ready to serve pour over eggs slightly beaten. Mix with a fork and season with pepper. Cook, lifting lightly with a fork until the eggs are "set." Serve at once.

FINNAN HADDIE FRITTERS

One to 2 cups flaked fish, 1 1/2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 2-3 cup milk, 1 egg. Choose a fish that is thick and short. Soak in warm water for twenty minutes. Drain and put on to cook in fresh water to cover. Bring slowly to the boiling point and as soon as water bubbles remove it once from the fire. Separate fish into large flakes. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and pepper. Slowly add egg slightly beaten and milk, beating butter to keep it smooth. Add fish and onion and stir just enough to mix well. Drop from tip of spoon into deep hot fat and fry until a golden brown on all sides. Drain and serve very hot.

to ask you first, though, Nurse Jane. For, after all, this is your kitchen, and candy must be boiled on the stove. May I?"
"Oh, yes, I guess so," Nurse Jane answered, for she loved the little orphan bunny child and she wanted to see her happy.
"May I make the molasses candy now?" went on Bunty. "I want to cook it before the others come home so I can surprise them. May I?"
"Oh, yes, I guess so," Nurse Jane said. "I'll help you make it."
For the patty in a pan, which Bunty took from the closet for her, some molasses, some sugar and some other things—she knew, whatever goes into candy, soon it was boiling and bubbling on the stove.
Now if you think a carrot shortcake smells delicious, you should have been in Nurse Jane's kitchen when Bunty was helping make the molasses candy.
"Oh, what a lovely smell!" murmured the little orphan rabbit.
"I'm glad you like it," squeaked the muskrat lady housekeeper.
"Will the candy soon be done?" asked Bunty. "I want it all ready when the others come home from school to surprise them."
"Yes, it is almost ready," Nurse Jane answered.
Soon the sugar and molasses had boiled long enough. Then Nurse Jane put in a little vinegar to make the candy harden and she poured the sweet stuff out into a pan that had been buttered so the candy wouldn't stick. It was set out on the back steps in a pile of snow to cool more quickly and when it was still a little soft, Nurse Jane cut the pan of candy into squares, like caramels, with a knife.
"Oh, what a lovely lot of candy!" cried Bunty when it was cool and hard and when the squares had been piled on a dish. Just then there was a noise at the kitchen door. But don't worry. It was none of the Bad Chaps. It was just Buster, Custer, Muster, to name only three of the boy bunnies, and Jingle, Jangle and Tangle, to name only three of the girl bunnies. They came rushing home from school.

SWEETZEY HEARD AT INQUIRY

Ex-Head of Beauharnois Tells Senators of Steps in Development

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 3.—R. O. Sweetzey was a witness at this forenoon's session of the Senate Beauharnois inquiry committee.

He was examined by A. L. Smith, one of the committee counsel. The financial structure of the early Beauharnois syndicate was described by Mr. Sweetzey.

Mr. Smith brought out the early association of Senator Donat Raymond of Montreal with Beauharnois. From the senator first became financially interested in the project of L. Claire Moyer, Ottawa barrister, into the Beauharnois syndicate with the late Winston B. Sifton in 1928.

By Mr. Smith, Mr. Moyer had subscribed for 800 units of the syndicate, but on whose account the subscription was made Mr. Sweetzey did not at that time know. He knew Mr. Moyer was a close friend of Mr. Sifton, who had been solicitor for the syndicate.

SOLD TO MCDONALD
Prior to that he had discussed Beauharnois matters with Senator W. L. McDonald of Montreal, but had failed to interest him in it. He recalled the evidence to the effect that the Moyer shares, which, it was later established, had been bought for Mr. Sifton, had in May, 1928, been sold to Senator McDonald.

The Sterling Industrial Corporation had assumed importance to Mr. Sweetzey in the fall of 1928. He thought it might have a prior claim. He had discussed the situation with Senators Haydon and McDonald and R. A. C. Henry, the three who comprised the Sterling Corporation. It was essential to get together to ensure that there was no conflict of interests, he said.

BEAUHARNOIS SYNDICATE BOUGHT
The Beauharnois syndicate bought the Sterling, but did not purchase any other interest which might offer conflict. The Transportation and Power Company, owned by Marcie Cantin, was not regarded seriously, having no financial standing, said Mr. Sweetzey.

SECRETARY HEARD
The first witness to-day was Loris C. Christie, secretary of Beauharnois, whose evidence was formal, merely identifying vouchers which would be placed in the hands of the committee this evening.

DATES DISCUSSED
The witness did not know of Senator McDonald's interest in the Sterling until late in the fall of 1928 and shortly before the purchase was made. Nor did he recall just when the senator had become associated with Beauharnois beyond the fact that it was shortly after the death of Mr. Sifton in June, 1928.

ANSWERING COUNSEL
Mr. Sweetzey said the sterling argument urged on him by Sterling was one of "technical merit." The sterling claim had been filed ahead of Beauharnois. The removal of Sterling would enable him to concentrate more fully on Beauharnois. He did not like purchasing Sterling. Mr. Sweetzey continued. The action was taken not with a view to enhancing the physical layout of Beauharnois but to gain time and allow Beauharnois to make progress. In these negotiations Senator Haydon had told him he was not a shareholder of Sterling, but that he was a personal friend of Mr. Sifton. Mr. Sweetzey testified he had given to Senator Haydon for the Liberal Party at various times on one or two occasions the Beauharnois president had asked if these payments could be made to Senator Raymond, knowing Mr. Raymond was a trustee of the Liberal Party funds. Mr. Haydon had agreed, he said.

He had been spoken to by Mr. Haydon in the late spring of 1930, when the latter informed him of the action being pending. More requests had come from the senator, and Mr. Sweetzey got "alarmed." He paid what he could. The major portion of the contributions was from his personal funds, he said.

ASKED ABOUT OTHERS
"I looked around to see how much a man in my position was expected to pay, no continues, and found, much to my alarm, that I was expected to pay handsomely. I inquired as to what others paid—bankers, industrial interests and the like—and was pleased when I found I could get away with doing what I did."

He had made contributions to other parties than the Liberal Party. His contribution to L. O. Bell, Conservative, St. Anthony, was a personal one, inspired by his friendship for Mr. Bell, he said.

$10,000 TO CONSERVATIVES
In Montreal he had contributed $10,000 to the trustee of the Conservative Party fund, Mr. McArthur. He did not recall other federal contributions.

"Did you know it was the practice of both parties to accept campaign contributions from industrial interests?" he asked. "I knew it vaguely before," replied Mr. Sweetzey. "But I knew it more definitely after I got into Beauharnois."

"When you said it was your wish not to be seen generous in that respect than bankers and industrial interests, did you know, then, people subscribed to political funds?" asked Senator Graham.

"I made it my business to ascertain if they did so, and was told I was very simple if I didn't know that," Mr. Sweetzey replied.

$200,000 MENTIONED
In Montreal he had been approached by a Mr. Cartier and asked to subscribe to the Conservative fund. The sum of $200,000 was mentioned, but "nothing came of it," Mr. Cartier did not say it had been suggested to him by Maj.-Gen. A. D. McRae, the Conservative organizer. Mr. Sweetzey wanted time to think this $200,000 proposition over, and when he was so doing he was told not to pursue it further. No one else in the Conservative Party had asked him respecting contributions.

INJURED RUGGER NOW IMPROVING

SENATOR ON STAND
Senator Donat Raymond then was heard.

With the committee's permission the Montreal senator read a statement recalling the report of the Commons committee last session. In it the committee had commented adversely on the fact that the senator had not in his evidence disclosed a $200,000 contribution had been made.

The report of the Commons said that "it was inconceivable Mr. Sweetzey would have paid this money unless he considered Senator Raymond's political influence worth that sum."

In 1930, said the senator, he was acting as trustee for the Liberal Party. He had received this amount from Mr. Sweetzey, but had not solicited the contribution. In due course the money was turned over to the treasurer of the Liberal Party.

He had never been asked about campaign funds, and although he had indicated to the committee he was still available for further examination, he had not been recalled as a witness. Hon. W. A. Gordon, chairman of the Commons committee, had instructed Hon. Ian Mackenzie, one of the members, to inform Senator Raymond his reappearance was not necessary.

FORCE ELECTION, PATULLO URGES

He recalled that the last revision of the Electoral Act was participated in by a committee representing both parties, and he considered the act should at all times meet the approval of both parties.

The power to cancel the lists was so sweeping that the government could cancel them to-day and then, if it did not like them, could call another election in three months. This was extraordinary power to give any government and might lead to manipulation detrimental to the exercise of the people's franchise.

Mr. Patullo pointed out that after the Dominion election it was found in Vancouver alone that only 38,000 names were on the provincial list, although the Dominion election showed 78,000 were entitled to vote. Liberal committees had assisted 25,000 additional persons to go to the training of registers. He said that these 25,000, as well as the others would be required to register anew.

Mr. Patullo urged that the government should go to the country this year. Some of them had been taking very indecently between sessions and without regard to the public interest. He said that the government should go on for another year without giving the people a chance to express themselves.

At the time when the provincial election was held, Mr. Patullo disapproved the Dominion system of enumeration, saying irresponsible servant girls placed whole families on a list. He said that the government should go on for another year without giving the people a chance to express themselves.

SAFEGUARDS
Thomas King, new Liberal member for St. Anthony, said his leader was naturally anxious for safeguards at the next election, as the present government had refused a poll to seventy-one of the thirty-three members on the Big Bend, thirty-three miles from any other poll and in a snowbound country where it was impossible for them to get out.

"Nothing could have been grosser than that attempt to thwart the will of the people," he said, "without Mr. Manson. That was why he did not view the bill as having the disinterested altruism one might expect from the honorable and reverend Minister of Education."

He estimated the cost of preparing new lists at $50,000, and said it was in view of the distress of many people, that the government took heed of spending such sums unnecessarily.

The proposed compulsion of naturalization of voters was another matter, being given a ballot was an insult to some of the province's finest citizens, including the Minister of Public Works, said Mr. Manson.

The debate elicited some cross-fire when H. D. Twigg said Mr. Manson was born in the United States. Mr. Manson retorted that he was a Canadian, and with an obvious hit at the interjector, added he had not had to "emigrate from any country."

Mr. Patullo interjected that Premier Toole was also born in the United States, but it was suggested afterwards he was confusing the Premier with his elder brother, Rod Toole, who was born in Washington before the boundary was settled.

TEN HURT IN TEXAS STORM

Houston, Texas, March 3.—Ten persons were injured in a windstorm that struck near here to-day.

Fifteen residences were damaged at Deep Water, Deer Park, Lynnhurst and Highlands.

MAN DROWNED IN B.C. FLOOD

Transient Reported Victim Near Hope When Walking Log to Safety

Chilliwack, B.C., March 3.—Belated news has been received here that flood waters of the Cootenah River at Hope claimed a victim last Friday in the person of F. G. McCarey, a transient of whom little is known.

About 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, as Elmer Hedstrom and Eric Skoglan were watching the river rise, they saw three men, one of whom was McCarey, marooned on a log jammed up stream. Thinking to help them and bring them to safety, the boys quickly set to work and felled a tree, which they pushed across the river at a narrow point. McCarey was the first to venture to cross, but when he was about midway he lost his balance and fell into the river. The body was swept away by the swift current and has not been recovered.

QUIET AT HOME OF LINDBERGH

To-day an eventful afternoon was quiet at the Lindbergh home. The police and the press were not allowed to enter the house. The Lindberghs were on the other side.

Inside the area thus bounded police constantly patrolled the highway and no one was allowed to park a car or even stop for a moment. No one not having legitimate business on the road was allowed to drive past the Lindbergh estate. The reporters and photographers, some of whom had been billeted in the homes of neighbors of the Lindberghs, were forced to leave and wait for news.

HOPES VOICED
No secret was made of the reason for this isolating the Lindbergh home and it was acknowledged that with the estate and road cleared there were hopes the kidnappers or a representative would appear to the baby back and demand the ransom.

Although Colonel Lindbergh was said to be ready to pay whatever was asked, no statement was issued as to whether he had reached an agreement with police as to their action in case the kidnappers should arrive.

Howell, N.J., March 3.—There was still no word this afternoon of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., the baby held by kidnappers for $50,000 ransom. The baby had been in the Lindbergh home since the kidnapping. Five miles it could be seen, standing against the black sky like a beacon inviting the kidnappers to bring him back.

A postcard, mailed in Newark yesterday, was received by Col. Charles Augustus Lindbergh to-day. The card, which was signed "John," said the baby was safe and for the man who flew the New York to Paris air-trail to save further instructions.

The post box in Newark in which the card was mailed was kept under police eyes throughout the night. Police had a description of the man believed to have posted the card.

WORKMEN QUESTIONED
Search already had been started for everyone of the fifty or more men engaged in the construction of the Lindbergh home. This action was based on the police belief the kidnappers apparently were working on the site, to the location of the nursery.

Col. Lindbergh and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, made it clear their interest was solely with their child. They had no concern with the capture and punishment of the kidnappers.

It was quite clear, in statements made by them in close consultation with Col. Lindbergh, that they were ready and eager to negotiate for the baby's return and to meet the kidnappers' ransom demands.

YEN HEARD BY LEAGUE

Drummond and he asserted China's only alternative was to further resist the Japanese attacks.

Dr. Yen gave the Assembly what he said were full details of military operations in the Shanghai area in which the Japanese were making gains by the Japanese, while, he added, peace discussions were going on.

In view of the distress of many people, that the government took heed of spending such sums unnecessarily.

The proposed compulsion of naturalization of voters was another matter, being given a ballot was an insult to some of the province's finest citizens, including the Minister of Public Works, said Mr. Manson.

MATSUDAIRA SPEAKS
Ambassador Matsudaira, Japan's spokesman, addressed the Assembly to-day. Dr. Yen had finished that the Japanese forces at Shanghai had been ordered to halt their advance, and cease all fighting provided there were no further hostile action by the Chinese.

He said he thought this special session of the Assembly was unnecessary, as soon as a guarantee for the protection of Japanese residents in the Shanghai area was found the trouble would end.

By P. I. Lipsey Jr., Associated Press Staff Correspondent
Geneva, March 3.—The League of Nations assembly in special session to-day threw the influence of its fifty-five member states behind a movement to re-establish peace in the Far East. Members of the United States, the British Empire, the World Disarmament Conference sat as spectators in the assembly hall as the meeting began.

The assembly convened in the auditorium which has been devoted to the sessions of the World Disarmament Conference for the last month. The five members of the United States, the British Empire, and the World Disarmament Conference sat as spectators in the assembly hall as the meeting began.

Lindbergh Home From Where Great Man-hunt Started

It was from a room on the second floor of the family home that Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., twenty months old, was kidnapped Tuesday evening by a gang believed composed of two men and a woman. As the sunlight grew stronger in the early hours of Wednesday the photo reproduced above was taken. Detectives were conferring on the rear platform of the house when the camera clicked. The policeman in the foreground was one of the squad of the New Jersey state force, some of whom were on duty on the grounds of the Lindbergh home, while others combed the whole district, the estate being four miles from the town of Hopewell. The speedy system which brought this picture to Times readers is described in the lines under the picture on the front page.

CIVIL SERVICE INQUIRY OPENS

Working of Act to Be Studied By Commons Committee

Ottawa, March 3.—The Commons committee appointed to inquire into the working of the Civil Service Act held a brief session this forenoon, appointed J. Earl Lawson, Conservative, West York, Ont., as chairman, and adjourned until March 15. A sub-committee composed of the chairman, E. R. E. Chevrier, Liberal, Ottawa, and J. G. Woodworth, Liberal, Winnipeg, was appointed to study the working of the act.

GOVERNOR TALKS WITH LINDBERGH

Howell, N.J., March 3.—Governor H. Harry Moore of New Jersey called on the Lindberghs to-day and afterward stated positively no contact with the kidnappers of the Lindbergh baby had been made either by the Lindberghs or the police.

BATTLE FOR LETTERS MARKS UNEMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE INQUIRY

Mr. Patullo quoted from the resolution calling for a full inquiry into every phase of unemployment administration to support his claim. The correspondence might prove where the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby had been made either by the Lindberghs or the police.

LEADERS ORDER TWO ARMIES STAND STILL DURING NEGOTIATIONS

A short time after the first statement the fighting would be stopped. The Japanese military headquarters announced its troops had occupied Kiating, more than fifteen miles northwest of Shanghai.

Shortly afterward the legation statement came from the Japanese flagship Idzumi saying Admiral Nomura, naval commander, had ordered his forces to stop fighting. The Japanese military headquarters announced its troops had occupied Kiating, more than fifteen miles northwest of Shanghai.

Shortly before 5 p.m., another statement was issued, over the names of Admiral Nomura and General Yoshino Shirakawa, military commander, which said:

"Now that the Chinese troops have withdrawn outside the zone as the Japanese demanded, we intend to cease hostilities. The Chinese begin hostile operations."

In view of the evidence that the fighting was continuing, this was interpreted by observers here as distinctly different from the two preceding statements.

Dispatches from Nanking which reached here shortly after the first Japanese statement that the hostilities would be ended, said Chinese government leaders there had called for summoning all energies to be "turned toward resisting Japanese aggression."

The Nanjing government, Premier Wang Ching-wei and Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, had urged the government to grant an amnesty to all prisoners so they might be organized for military service or used as laborers. Chinese authorities here were keeping in close touch with the government at Nanking and late this afternoon they said fighting had ended.

They also said the fighting was continuing at Wusong, which the Japanese claimed they had captured this forenoon.

DISCUSSIONS ENDED

Peace talks which were to have been held aboard the British cruiser Kent to-day apparently fell flat. Yasuke Matsudaira, unofficial representative here of Premier Inukai and Foreign Minister Yoshizawa of Japan, said no peace discussions were slated for to-day or for the immediate future as far as he was known.

In the confusion which prevailed late this afternoon around the arrangements for peace, and in the lack of official statements, observers here decided the notion the discussions seemed to hang at present on the Chinese reply to a new set of Japanese demands. There were believed to have been hints to the Chinese yesterday evening.

Under the new demands, it was reported, Japan would agree to a cessation of hostilities for a certain period, provided China would agree to withdraw her troops from the Shanghai area, during which period the details of a final suspension of hostilities would be arranged by Chinese and Japanese military authorities.

During this cessation of hostilities there would be a round-table conference in which representatives of the neutral powers would participate to decide on the method of withdrawing both the Chinese and Japanese troops, together with a restoration of the status quo in and around Shanghai.

LAUNCHES MOVE FOR TAX CUT

Mr. Wolfenden testified that the cost of subdividing and clearing most of the big area owned by the company between the Gorge and Esquimaux harbor was prohibitive.

"Anyhow, there is not sufficient population to absorb these lands," he said.

"What is the future then of these lands?" asked Mr. Lawson.

"Just like their past," said the judge. Mr. Wolfenden said that outside of a few lots near Esquimaux Road and around the home of Attorney-General Pooley, practically none of the company's lands in Esquimaux were saleable.

"Well, it is a waste of time to talk about subdividing land away out there when land inside the city is unsaleable," he said.

Asked about the value of farm lands on the south, Mr. Wolfenden said a fair rental for the best farm land used for $1 an acre a month, and their capital value could be worked out from that basis.

Mr. Wolfenden testified that the 144 acres of the Gorge Vale golf course had been sold to the club for $60,000. Around $50,000 had been spent in improving the area.

"When we sold the property to the club we got $5,000 down and were to have got $8,000 a year until the $60,000 was paid," Mr. Wolfenden said. "But so far we have got only $3,000 out of it, which we have had to pay $3,000 taxes. The net result is that on the $60,000 purchase, we have received only little more than $1,000 in cash."

OAK BAY VALUES NO GUIDE
"We had hoped to sell some lots adjoining the golf course because of its development, but so far we have sold nothing," The deal for the course was started in 1927, at which time conditions were good. Even then this choice tract of property was negotiated on a price of only around $400 an acre.

"Comparative property values in Oak Bay and Uplands cannot be taken as a guide as it is easy to sell property in Oak Bay or the Uplands, compared to Esquimaux."

Mr. Wolfenden testified that it would take $200 an acre to clear it and he could not imagine it being subdivided as large sloughs would have to be filled in, which we have had to pay $3,000 taxes. The net result is that on the $60,000 purchase, we have received only little more than $1,000 in cash."

AWAIT WORD ON GRANTS

Esquimalt Suspends Estimates Discussion Until Government Makes Statement

Unemployed Heard at Council Meeting; No Decision Yet on Library Service

Until the provincial government makes a definite statement regarding its plans for municipal grants this year, Esquimalt council will not give final consideration to its estimates, it was announced at the council meeting yesterday evening. In view of the fact that the revenue from the province is a feature of major importance in the district's finance, it was felt that the entire structure of the budget might be affected through the policy adopted by the Legislature.

During the meeting the council heard a delegation from the Esquimalt Unemployed Association asking for relief. The group was informed the district was doing all in its power to secure work for the men, but would be unable to offer anything further unless the government changed its policy in accordance with the request of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

No settlement was reached on the question of continuing the library service in the district. The matter is expected to be passed upon finally at the next meeting of the municipal body.

WOULD END LIBRARY SERVICE
Councillor T. Hadfield, chairman of the library board, urged the continuance of the library service. Councillor A. T. Farley was of the opinion that the service should be a secondary consideration. The year was one for economy. By discontinuing the agreement with the library, money could be saved, he said, before moving that it be terminated.

In the absence of Councillor George Wise the matter was left for a vote at the next meeting.

Speaking for the unemployed delegation which attended about twenty-five strong, Hans Kroeger stated that since the last time he had waited upon the council no satisfactory arrangement had been reached. The unemployed were of cardinal importance and should be considered before other municipal business, he claimed.

Pending a different arrangement with the government, asked by the Union of B.C. Municipalities, Esquimalt could do nothing more than it was doing, Reeve Head said. The Friendly Help of starvation in the district, he informed the delegation. The unemployed group was later promised the use of the hall next Friday for another meeting.

SET MUNICIPAL CREDIT
The annual loan by-law had been accepted by the Bank of Montreal and the district had a credit of $70,000, it was announced. No pyramiding would be allowed on the credit, it was said.

A circular letter from the deputy provincial secretary advising the district to provide work for those securing direct relief up to the value of goods received in groceries was not looked upon with much favor. Reeve Head pointed out that if men in the district felt they were earning groceries, more would apply.

The matter was tabled for further discussion.

A letter from the superannuation commission asking Esquimalt to bear a share of an inquiry into superannuation matters was laid on the table.

The municipal solicitor was instructed to draw up a new agreement with the trustees of the Bullen Park making it possible to sell that property. The matter will probably be submitted to the district in the form of a by-law at some future date.

An offer by H. Paxton to trade a piece of property owned by him and $70 for two lots owned by the municipality was accepted.

TO BUY ROSE
The council accepted the tender of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company for 200 feet of fire hose at a cost of 43 cents a foot.

The engineer was instructed to give some of the repair work on the municipality's motor cars to the Christensen Motor Service.

Accounts amounting to $10,503, submitted by the finance committee, were passed and the sewer construction and rental tax amendment by-law, 1932, passed its final reading.

A request for a street light on Dunsmuir Road, filed by J. Knowles, was referred to the fire and lights committee.

Reports from the engineer regarding drainage conditions and need for improvement of several streets were laid on the table pending final consideration of the public works estimates.

Reeve Head gave a report on the special session of the Union of B.C. Municipalities which ended yesterday.

INSURANCE MEN HEAR LEADERS

R. G. McCuish and E. Chown Address Victoria Life Underwriters' Association

Life insurance to the amount of $800,000,000 was sold in Canada last year—about 10 per cent less than the 1930 total—while the assets of the companies were $125,000,000 more than in 1930, said R. G. McCuish, Vancouver, president of the Canadian Life Underwriters' Association, addressing a dinner meeting of the Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association yesterday evening at the Beach Hotel.

"Insurance men need make no apologies for what they have sold in the last two years," said the Dominion president in the course of his appeal to maintain and add to the high standards of their profession.

STOOD FOURSQUARE

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Ken Maynard is seen in another of his thrilling and action-filled Tiffany productions western dramas, "Branded Men" on the bill now playing at the Playhouse Theatre.

With more action and excitement than the premature setting off of a wagon load of fireworks, "Branded Men" is just the type of western that keeps the pulses pounding and brings the spectators to the edges of their seats.

As the new sheriff in a tough cowtown, Ken sets out to clear the vicinity of a tough gang of rustlers and bank robbers who have long monopolized the town.

June Clyde is the girl, with Donald Keith in the role of brother. The balance of the cast comprises Charles
King, Hooper Atchley, Billy Blitcher and Irving Bacon, among others.

OBITUARY

Funeral services were held this morning at Fulford Harbor for the late Mrs. Susan Trage, who passed away on Monday in her ninetieth year. Interment was made in the Catholic Cemetery at Fulford Harbor, Sands Mortuary Co. being in charge of arrangements.

There passed away yesterday at the Jubilee Hospital, Edward Eaton, of Glanford Avenue, in his forty-eighth year. He was a well-known dairyman and had resided in Victoria for twenty-four years, coming here from York-shire, England. The deceased leaves to mourn his passing his widow, three daughters, Viola, Lillian and Joyce; two sons, Edward and Vernon, all at home; three sisters, Mrs. W. Strain, Mrs. P. Peters and Mrs. Roy Simmons, all of this city, and five brothers, James, Ernest, George and John, all of Victoria. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Co. Chapel, and interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

The funeral of Frank Hepworth, who passed away on February 27, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Services were conducted by Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick. There was a large attendance, and many beautiful floral tributes covered the casket. The following acted as pallbearers: P. H. Oakes, W. J. Smith, A. Dewarup and F. James. Interment was made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

A private funeral service was held yesterday afternoon for Mrs. D. C. Fraser, who passed away in this city on Saturday. Her son, Major Alistair Fraser, of the Canadian army, arrived yesterday morning and accompanied the remains, which were forwarded on yesterday evening's boat to Vancouver en route to New Glasgow, N.S., where interment will be made.

The funeral of Mrs. Grace Holmwood, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on Monday, was held yesterday afternoon from the chapel of the Sands Mortuary Co. There were many beautiful floral offerings, which testified to the esteem in which Mrs. Holmwood was held by her many friends. Rev. O. L. Jull conducted the service, during which the hymns "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Nearer, My God to Thee" were sung. The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park. The pallbearers were A. W. Sandler, J. M. Elliott, A. G. Rough, L. Linkell, A. Amyes and H. G. Rough.

Tomorrow is the last time the Municipal Hall will be granted for this use, G. C. Cook said this morning.

Somewhere in Saanich a mother sheep is bleating for her child, according to word from the Saanich police yesterday. Three days the baby lamb has been missing from the mountain pasture. It was found on Sunday on Giles Road, Keating, and will be returned to the owner on application at the Saanich police office. The animal is white and about six weeks old.

Subject to minor changes in verbiage the Vancouver Stock Exchange Bill given the directors power to make up to $400,000 of accumulated funds was approved by the private bill committee of the Legislature to-day. The bill gives the city and district municipalities wide powers to control and administer the Cultus Lake park to be redrafted by direction of the committee before being given final consideration.

A further resolution asking for the inspection of tourist accommodation in British Columbia in order to protect the tourist industry in the province, is going forward from the Vancouver Tourist Bureau with the endorsement of the Victoria bureau. It was announced here to-day. The bill is being taken to prevent those who are taking visitors from visiting British Columbia on to poor housing conditions. Recently passed legislation in Quebec is being cited to indicate the importance of this matter to the provincial government.

Following yesterday's close division in the special committee of unemployment, when Chairman H. D. Triggs had to give the casting vote to uphold his own ruling, a notice of motion has been made to add more Conservative members to the public accounts committee and one to the unemployment committee. As the public accounts committee now stands it has seven Conservatives to five Liberals. The motion will make it 10 to 5. The unemployment committee is now 7 to 4 and is to be increased to 8 to 4.

According to Joe North the radio set and fifteen headpieces for the tuberculosis patients at St. Joseph's Hospital, which were recently installed, have been entirely paid for by collections secured during the last few months. The addition to the ward of radio communication has been the cause of much happiness to the patients and Mr. North hopes to do the same for the ward at the Jubilee Hospital. The radio fittings and installation cost $124.20. The radio has already been put through a previous collection. The sum of $129.73 was collected, including $21.48 at yesterday's rugby game, and the balance of $5.53 was turned over to Sunshine Inn.

After the service the members adjourned to the hall where the regular fortnightly meeting was held. In report on the recent band concert was given. Volunteers were asked to assist the leader of the Junior A.Y.P.A. badminton team. The A.Y.P.A. team, which is expected to take place on board the Columbia Coast Mission boat this month, was discussed. Badminton and billiard reports showed the keen interest members are displaying in both sports. Following the meeting the usual games were enjoyed.

RELIEF WORKERS GO ON "STRIKE"

Provincial police were called out yesterday evening to bring to the city sixty men laid off at the provincial government's Order Point Relief Camp following a "strike" yesterday.

BOND PAYMENT CLARITY SOUGHT

Payment in U.S. Or Canadian Fund Issue Before Municipal Committee

Contradictory Point May Come Before Courts, Members Told

Clarity in legislation regarding payment of interest and principal on bonds by British Columbia municipalities to remove all doubt as to the legality of paying in U.S. funds, was urged by G. L. Fraser, representing the Investment Bankers' Association of Canada before the municipal committee of the Legislature this morning. Mr. Fraser was supported by Harold Henderson of the B.C. Bondholders' Association.

Mr. Fraser read newspaper reports of Victoria's position where doubt was raised whether the city could under the Municipal Act legally pay in U.S. funds regardless of the words used in the bond. Although Victoria finally yielded and did so, the effect was felt throughout the country and the spreading of such news was liable to affect the province of municipalities. There was considerable point to the legal argument raised in Victoria. Mr. Henderson thought, and legislation was desirable that should give municipalities the power beyond question to pay in U.S. funds.

Such bonds and bonds specifying payment in Canadian funds in New York were discussed, and whether municipalities were entitled to take advantage of what Mr. Fraser termed a technicality.

Mr. Fraser read newspaper reports of Victoria's position where doubt was raised whether the city could under the Municipal Act legally pay in U.S. funds regardless of the words used in the bond. Although Victoria finally yielded and did so, the effect was felt throughout the country and the spreading of such news was liable to affect the province of municipalities. There was considerable point to the legal argument raised in Victoria. Mr. Henderson thought, and legislation was desirable that should give municipalities the power beyond question to pay in U.S. funds.

While there were outstanding contracts, Mr. Fraser said, that might be contested in the courts, it would be advisable to clarify the legislation for the future.

Stating the recommendations were made with the view of maintaining the credit of B.C. municipalities, Mr. Fraser also suggested that no municipality should be allowed to issue bonds, except by the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor, unless its collections of current taxes for the two preceding years average 80 per cent or over of the current year; that no municipality be allowed to issue bonds covering replacement work where the original cost of the work and that bonds not be issued for a longer term than the estimated life of the work; that no municipality be allowed to guarantee bonds or securities without the consent of the Lieutenant-Governor; that sinking fund securities of any kind—these must be definitely stated maturity periods. T. H. Kirk suggested that it should be made clear that a guarantee by the municipality by the government as it was stated, had been represented in some instances.

SEEK LOWER GAS PRICE

Council Committee Starts Inquiry Into Difference in Charges

As a result of a conference between the business and development committee of the City Council and local manager of gasoline distributing companies to discuss disparity of gas prices here and in Vancouver, it was decided to make a formal request to the companies to consider the question of lowering the rates.

The inquiry into gasoline prices was continued by Alderman W. D. Todd, chairman of the committee, which includes Alderman H. O. Litchfield and T. W. C. Hawkins.

Managers of the four distributing companies here met the committee yesterday afternoon to answer questions on the subject.

The difference between the standard prices here and in Vancouver is two cents, stated to be made up of one cent in the wholesale price to cover transport charges between the mainland and Victoria, and the other cent going to the retailers.

Alderman Todd proposed the landing of gasoline directly at Victoria to eliminate the extra cent in carrying charges. He said that in 1930 Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula motorists consumed approximately 8,000,000 gallons of gasoline so that the extra cent meant a difference of $80,000 for the period of twelve months in the price which would have been paid in Vancouver for the same amount.

In some cases, he said, refined gasoline in tankers went past Victoria's harbor to Vancouver and then was transferred back again for local consumption.

The oil men stated it was impracticable to place the gasoline directly in Victoria and in the case of United States tankers bringing the product it was against the law to call both here and at Vancouver.

T. W. McPherson appeared for the Home Oil Company, E. D. LeLachur for the Imperial Oil Company, W. A. Walton for the Union Oil Company and W. E. Peters for the Shell Company.

MEETING CALLED ON CELEBRATION

All public bodies and citizens interested in promoting a large celebration for the May 24 holiday have been invited to attend at organization meeting called at 8 o'clock to-day by Alderman W. D. Todd, chairman of the business and trade development committee of the City Council.

Alderman Todd's committee has undertaken the duty of studying one of the finest fetes in the city's history for the occasion and co-operation of anyone interested is urged. The meeting will be held in the council chamber at the City Hall.

CHARGE LAID AFTER CRASH

A. Matthews Faces Driving Count Following Highway Accident

Woman Seriously Injured, Three Others Hurt When Car Hits Pole

Andrews Matthews, 2845 Quadra Street, was charged by the provincial police this morning with driving an automobile while intoxicated, following an accident on Four-Mile Hill yesterday evening, in which three other persons besides himself were injured. He was remanded and released on $200 bail.

Mrs. S. Howland, 931 Mason Street, was reported resting comfortably in St. Joseph's Hospital, where she was confined with cuts about the head and throat, a broken wrist and other injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McLennan and Mr. Matthews sustained cuts about the face and other injuries.

The car in which they were travelling crashed head-on into a telephone pole at the turn in the Four-Mile Hill just opposite the Four-Mile House, according to provincial police. It is believed the machine, in turning the bend, touched the sidewalk and then hit the pole. The car was badly damaged.

Constables T. Flander and D. Tweed, who were called to the scene shortly before 11 o'clock and conveyed Mrs. Howland to the hospital. First aid was rendered to the others. The fifth occupant of the car, Mrs. Carlow, was not injured.

IN FAVOR OF MORATORIUM

Mortgage Relief Should Not Be Confined to Court Appeal, Says Pattullo

The movement here in favor of a real moratorium on mortgage principal was greatly strengthened to-day when T. D. Pattullo, Liberal Party leader, endorsed it. In a statement announcing his attitude on the question, Mr. Pattullo said:

"I do not know, of course, what the government proposes in this matter, but it has been reported in the press that it contemplates an appeal to a property owner, unable to meet the principal of a maturing mortgage, may apply to the courts and, if his condition is desperate enough, may secure a year's postponement of principal payment. This seems to me to be inadequate. If a moratorium on principal payments is needed, and I believe it is, then it should be an outright moratorium."

"Property owners should not be obliged to appeal to the courts, with expense and delay, to provide for a year's postponement of principal payment. This seems to me to be inadequate. If a moratorium on principal payments is needed, and I believe it is, then it should be an outright moratorium."

"The present is a time of emergency and requires exceptional measures. I believe it is in the interest of every one to prevent the foreclosure of large numbers of mortgages at this time. Provided interest payments are kept up, and taxes paid, a year's postponement of principal payments should cause no hardship to capital. If a man has to renew a mortgage in these times he may have to pay an exorbitant rate of interest. In view of the present state of the investment market."

The issue will come to a vote shortly when the government introduces its mortgage legislation. Originally it planned an outright moratorium, but was altered to provide for a year's postponement of principal payments to the courts. Whether from its legislative takes, the outright moratorium plan will be proposed in the House, if necessary by way of an amendment. A clear vote is assured and so many members favor the moratorium that it seems likely to be adopted.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR DESTITUTE

Question as to responsibility of a municipality for the care of children left destitute was under discussion this morning when representatives of the Union of B.C. Municipalities appeared before the municipal committee of Legislature, Reeve Pritchard of Burnaby presenting the recommendations of the union.

It was pointed out that children residing in one municipality were sometimes sent to convent schools and parents failed to continue their payments and that it had been legally decided that the municipality in which the children now lived was bound to provide for them.

SKETCHES PLAN FOR INSURANCE

State Health Would Not Impose Severe Load on Employer, Rotary Club Told

Would Remove Many Costs Now Being Carried, G. S. Pearson States

Although the plan for state health insurance favored by the provincial government commission inquiring into the matter would require approximately $750,000 more from the employers of the province, it would, in effect, place a lighter load on them, in the opinion of George S. Pearson, M.P.P. for Nanaimo, who addressed the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Many of the services which would be included in the state health insurance scheme, as proposed, would include costs which employers were now carrying independently, he said.

Under present conditions he saw no hope of having such a scheme passed by Parliament this year, but thought it might be put through the House in 1933.

Plan "E" the most expensive and favored of several considered by the commission, would cost in all approximately $6,500,000 annually. This sum would be made up by contributions of 10 cents by the state, 10 cents by the employer and five-ninths by the employees.

This would amount to a monthly contribution of $1.93 for each employee earning less than $2,400 a year. It would obviate the $1,000,000 government grant to hospitals and other charges that had to be met.

Administration of the system would cost approximately 10 per cent of the general amount and a 2 per cent contingency fund would be set up.

This was considerably below the administration costs of the scheme operating in Great Britain, where 15 per cent was required.

In benefits the insured would be given hospitalization, medical and surgical services, costs of pharmaceutical supplies and a dollar a day for lost labor.

All that I ask of the people of British Columbia is this—that they do not approach the matter with a prejudiced viewpoint. Do not let us condemn the principle of the move because of the possible interpretation of certain clauses which may be objectionable to certain localities. Let us accept the principle and iron out the difficulties that might arise," Mr. Pearson said.

He stated that state health insurance was not another load on the taxpayer. If it were put into effect it would tend to reduce, rather than increase medical costs.

There were thousands of indigents throughout the province who were not paying for their medical services. It was the object of the move to distribute equitably the costs of medical services.

In the first place health insurance was aimed to furnish funds for health services and to distribute the costs equitably and make it possible for the working man to secure medical services without fear of economic danger.

Virtually all countries of Europe had some form of national health insurance, Mr. Pearson remarked.

BRITISH SYSTEM He favored the British compulsory system, outlining its structure with the percentages paid by the workers, the employers and the government. He then gave a resume of the cash rates, most of which were paid out by recognized societies.

The medical attention given under that system was not of the specialist nature, but general, and answer to the criticisms that the cost of state health insurance was ruinous. He said that statement was untrue. There was a good surplus on hand from the accumulated rates in Britain. They had reached a point where increased benefits were being urged.

The B.C. commission had recommended against distribution of benefits by order-in-council, and the difference in sick risk in various parts of the province. The commission favored a central distributing organization.

THE LARGEST SHOWING OF EASTER NOVELTIES IN VICTORIA

VALUE OF FILM QUOTA DOUBTED

Fear Pictures Not Depicting British Ideals and Standards Would Be Forced

A preview of the Pathe newscast showing the unveiling of Canada's War Memorial at St. Julien, Belgium, commemorating the second battle of Ypres, was given in the Chamber of Commerce to-day.

Among the celebrated personages shown at the unveiling ceremony were the Duke of Connaught, the Canadian High Commissioner, Lord Forster, Gen. Sir Richard Turner and other war leaders.

Theatre interests of British Columbia launched a determined fight here to-day against the government's new film quota bill, on the ground that, instead of building up the popularity of British pictures in this province, it would operate disastrously against them.

In representations to members of the government, J. R. Muir, representing the Associated Amusements of British Columbia, opposed the quota because it would injure those theatres catering to a public which does not want British pictures, because it would encourage the government to interfere with business by order-in-council, because it would force theatres to run all British pictures, whether they were good, bad or indifferent, thus discriminating against them.

"The total amount of British film available would only give us a small percentage of our total programme," he said. "Any quota would force us to run the British film whether it was up to standard or not. But worst of all, it would put the good British picture into the category of propaganda, and the public would not accept it. You cannot force patriotism down people's throats like that. British films must be built up on their own merits or not at all. Under existing conditions they are being built up, but our box office receipts show that the United States film as yet is far more in demand."

"This legislation will only hurt our business, reduce government revenues from amusement tax, break some of the small theatres and will not promote the British film."

Mr. Muir asserted that an Ontario quota act, though never enforced, had been used as a threat, had caused the showing of 'indifferent pictures and built up a strong prejudice against all British pictures.

Victoria Hoop Teams Make Clean Sweep In Island Play-offs

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Max Baer No Longer a Challenger for Heavyweight Title.

Has Every Advantage to Go a Long Way in Fight Game.

Under Proper Conditions Dempsey Might Come Back Better.

Sammy Mandell Latest Champ to Attempt a Ring Return.

MAX BAER is no heavyweight menace at the present time. He knocked out the giant Santa in the tenth round last October, and looked pretty good in that fight. He won a decision over Johnny Rizzo three weeks later, but never had Johnny in trouble. He was given a close decision, much questioned by the spectators, over DeKuh, knocked out Les Kennedy, who was a little more than a set-up, defeated King Levinsky, and beat Tom Heenan in a round decision last month. He increased his lead toward the end of the fight, but never had old Tom on the floor, but even wobbled on his pins.

Baer has the build of a great fighter, from the chin down, great shoulders, long arms, small waist and legs and good hands. He can take punches and hand them out. What keeps him from going on up the line is a mystery. But he lacks something. He is old. Dempsey with his fighting instinct, had Baer's youth and condition, nothing in the world could keep him away from the title. Baer may go on and win a lot of fights, but there's nothing in his performance of the last year to make Max Schmeling lose any sleep.

And speaking of Dempsey, a number of leading boxing critics figured that the champion would rest by taking on Levinsky. It seemed either that he was taking a reckless chance, or that he knew he had more stuff than some of his earlier exhibitions showed. In a bout a couple of weeks before he met Levinsky, Dempsey seemed to have a lot of the old punching power, but was slow and uncertain in his movement.

When Dempsey was a youngster working his way up to the title he fought nearly every week. He made those fights short. He had all the vitality in the world, astonishing speed and a great punch. He had a manager who took care of all the business details. All he had to do was train, when told to, and fight, when told to. He had no following crowd. He could rest. Now, when he has only a part of the old vitality and needs rest between fights he has no time to rest. When he stops at a hotel the halls are full of people waiting for a chance to rush up and grab his hand. They are on the back and ask questions. With rest from following crowds, a long period of uninterrupted training and a few bouts Dempsey might come back at least to put up a good fight with some of the leading heavyweights.

Ty Cobb, who gave up playing baseball when he figured that the game was becoming hard work and he could no longer keep up to the high standard of play he had established in a long and glorious career, is now coaching for the San Francisco Seals. Ty says he has no idea of buying a ball club anywhere and he has worked too hard for his money to risk throwing it away. But he likes baseball and likes to be around with ball players. As guest coach his chief occupation will be playing golf on the several golf courses around San Francisco, where the ball club is going through spring training. Ty is becoming a pretty good southpaw golfer. He still uses a baseball bat at the ball, but he is looking them out nearly as far as Babe Ruth.

Steady Mandell is going to try to come back as a heavyweight. Sammy says he suffered from "mental exhaustion" when he lost to Singer, and in some fights before that, but has fully recovered. Mandell was a model athlete. He started as a boxer, then star in various sports, took up boxing and went right to the top. He had a world of speed and became a perfect boxer. His fall from the championship heights was sudden, and unexpected. For Sammy always lived like an athlete and never dissipated. He wasn't hit on the chin very often, either, because he was too clever to be hit. He says he lost his co-ordination, but that after a long rest it has come back. Maybe it has. But the records show very few instances in which a fighter who has gone back for any reason has returned to the ring as good as ever.

Montreal A.A.A. Win Hockey Title

Montreal, March 3.—Montreal Amateur Athletic Association became senior amateur hockey champions of Quebec province when they defeated McGill, last year's titleholders, 2 to 1, here yesterday evening after twenty minutes of overtime.

Ralph St. Germain, who was awarded the Forster Trophy yesterday evening as the most valuable player in his team in the senior group, scored the winning goal eleven seconds from the end of the second overtime. The round was 4 to 3.

A.A.A. will next meet the intermediate champions of the province in a series to determine which team will represent the province in its matches with the Maritime titleholders. The Quebec intermediate champions will not be declared for a few days, but Lafontaine, titleholder of the Mount Royal League, looms as probable winner.

Commercials Flash Brilliant Form To Lift Senior Crown

Smother Nanaimo Under 60 to 17 to Capture Vancouver Island Senior "A" Men's Championship; Take Two-game Series by 94 to 27; Will Represent Island in B.C. Final; Chinese Students and Y.M.C.A. Score Victories Over Visiting Duncan Clubs in Opening Matches of Home-and-home Series

Victoria basketball champions made a clean-up on visiting clubs from Duncan and Nanaimo yesterday evening at the Victoria High School gym in Island play-off fixtures. In the feature tilt of the card the Commercials, local senior "A" titleholders, smothered the Nanaimo quintette under a 60-to-17 score to win the Island championship and the right to oppose the mainland champions in the B.C. final. The Commercials won the two-game total point series by the overwhelming score of 94 to 27, having taken the first game in Nanaimo last Friday 34 to 10. The Commercials will meet the mainlanders in the first game of a home-and-home series, total points to count, here on March 15.

Peden-McNamara Still in Front

New York, March 3.—The combination of Torchy Peden, Victoria, B.C., and Reggie McNamara, were still leading the field by one lap at the eighty-third hours of the ten-day race. The team of Moran and Grimm were running a close second.

NAVY TAKES SOCCER LEAD

Defeat Hudson's Bay 5 to 2 to Take First Place in Pendray Cup Series

Garrison Move Up Into Third Position By 4 to 1 Victory Over C.P.R.

Chalking up a 3 to 2 victory over the Hudson's Bay yesterday afternoon at the lower Beacon Hill ground, Navy footballers took the lead in the Pendray Cup series for Wednesday League soccer clubs. The sailors are out in front by a one-point margin over the Bays. As a result of their 4 to 1 victory over the C.P.R. at the Heywood Avenue grounds the Garrison moved into third place, two points in the rear of the Bays.

In their match with the Bays the sailors held the upper hand throughout. Twenty minutes after the start to rush up and grab his hand. They are on the back and ask questions. With rest from following crowds, a long period of uninterrupted training and a few bouts Dempsey might come back at least to put up a good fight with some of the leading heavyweights.

The Navy missed a golden chance to go two goals up early in the second half when Shrimpton saved a penalty kick taken by Roberts. The spot kick was awarded against Menzies for hands. However, Shrimpton, in saving, pushed the ball back into play and an open rush led to the score. The Bays' goal was credited to Obe, who pushed the ball into an open net after a smart play. The Navy's first and final goal was scored by Wilson from a corner kick.

In the early part of the second half the C.P.R. put up a better fight and shared more in the play. However, the Garrison finally broke away fast and Linley eluded the C.P.R. defence to drive home the Garrison's fourth counter. Just before the final whistle the C.P.R. scored their lone goal while Clarke booted the ball into the net from a penalty.

With Art Chapman, elongated centre, contributing eighteen points, "Muzz" Patrick sixteen and Lloyd Jones thirteen, the Commercials made a runaway of their game with Nanaimo. The local champions looked at their best this season, and if they continue to display the same speed, combination and shooting ability in the provincial final, the mainlanders are assured of a tough time. The members of the Commercials, playing under the name of Peden's last year, gave Varsity a stiff run in the B.C. series, and this year the team has improved nearly 50 per cent, and again the locals will have the advantage this year of playing the first game of the final in their home floor.

The Commercials got their high scoring front line into action right at the start. Art Chapman sank a free throw in the first minute to put the locals in the lead. Chapman then hooped one of his long ones from the sideline to make it 3 to 0. Two field goals and a number of free throws by Chapman and Patrick kept the total to 9 to 0. Watchers eluded his check to score Nanaimo's first basket. Jones retaliated for Victoria, while Patrick scored for the Commercials. By Patrick made it 12 to 4. Rose went on for little for the Commercials, and Kelly relieved Brown for Nanaimo. The Commercials scored four points and Nanaimo called time out.

A SNAPPY PLAY On a pretty play from the centre off Jones took a pass from Patrick to put the Commercials ahead 17 to 4. Patrick Jones and Art Chapman continued to bring through for back. At the interval the Commercials held a 36 to 11 lead.

With the start of the second half the Commercials pulled off "Chapman" and "Muzz" Patrick, leaving Little and Rose on the defence and Art Chapman, Craig and Jones on the front. The Kula slipped one in from under the basket to boost Nanaimo's total to thirteen. The Commercials called time out. Two baskets by Jones and Craig gave Victoria forty points. Kula sank a free throw for Nanaimo. Art Chapman snared a field basket while Kelly got a foul throw for the visitors. Art Chapman and Jones got through for two more baskets and Nanaimo rushed on four fresh players. Brown found the hoop for Nanaimo's final basket, but the Commercials kept up their terrific pace until they had amassed the huge total of sixty, the largest score made in senior "A" competition here this winter.

The teams and individual scores follow: Commercials—Craig 6, Jones 13, M. Patrick 16, A. Chapman 18, C. Chapman 3, Rose 2, Little 2. Nanaimo—Kula 7, Watchorn 4, Brown 2, Kelly 3, Walford, Green 1, Gower, Hynek. Duncan—Strouder 9, Fillingim, Pitt, Tait, Fletcher 2, Lawless, Evans 3, Jack 2. Y.M.C.A.—Robb 2, Sharpe 5, Chambers 4, Fleming 2, Phillips 5, Rockley, Landsdale, Naysmith 3, Bourne, Chinese Students—W Lee 7, Fong 7, G. Low, F. Nip, W. Low, P. Low 9, W. Lee 1, K. Low 2, A. Quong, P. Nip 4. Duncan—S. Holman, L. Bennington, R. Bone, W. Whan, Corning, Smith, McKittick, 400 to 374 and Percy Fitzsimmons disposed of Eddie Newman, last year's runner-up, 400 to 341. In the Cameron-McKittick game the pair were tied at 374, when Cameron came through with a break of twenty-two and won the match on his next trip to the table. Fitzsimmons found little trouble turning back Newman.

Two more games will be played this evening, with A. S. G. Musgrave meeting J. Clarke at 6:30 o'clock, followed by a match between Sam Oakes, defending champion, and E. Hartley.

EDDIE MORGAN SIGNS New Orleans, La., March 3.—Eddie Morgan, last of the unsigned Indians, discarded his holdout role yesterday evening and accepted a contract, the Cleveland management announced. Morgan will attempt to hang onto his job at first base when he reports for practice at the Cleveland camp.

Adanacs Win Over Shores in Replay

New Westminster, March 3.—New Westminster Adanacs won the Vancouver and district men's senior basketball title here yesterday evening, defeating Shores, 24 to 21.

The game was a re-play of Monday night's match which the Adanacs won 26 to 12 but were ordered to play over because of having shortened their playing floor by ten feet prior to the game.

Adanacs are slated to meet University of British Columbia for the Lower Mainland title in the next step of the playoffs for the provincial title. The winners will oppose Victoria Commercials, Island champions in the British Columbia final.

A gathering of 9,000 spectators cheered Tennyson's men, who fought valiantly in the field against a relentless flow of runs by Headley and Nunes, members of the last West Indian test team against Australia.

Going to bat yesterday morning, the Jamaicans needed 271 runs for victory. Headley and Nunes, who were not out Tuesday, opening against the English bowlers. Run came quickly before Nunes was caught by Walters, a substitute. He had scored 125. Headley batted until victory was secured, being not out with a score of 155.

McInnes and Engleson Return to Fifteen After Sickness; Try Out New Half-back Materially strengthened by the addition of the six local members of the Canadian All-star team, Victoria will go in quest of the leadership in the McKechnie Cup series against Varsity at Vancouver on Saturday. The local team, announced yesterday evening, shows plenty of strength in the pack and the backfield should be exceptionally good on the defence.

Roddy McInnes, Fifth Regiment, sure kicking local fullback, will be back in the game, as will Harold Engleson of the same team, one of the best tacklers the city has seen for some time. They will reappear on the line-up after attacks of flu.

Lynn Patrick, Victoria College, will give another chance in the three-quarter line which will be completed with Engleson, Frank Skillings and Brian Hunning.

The last two named played on the Canuck team here yesterday. Skillings being among the best individual players in the backfield.

By Robert Edgren "Pepper" Martin Is Confident St. Louis Will Retain Title

Hero of Last World Baseball Series Figures Cardinals Will Again Win National League Title; Hopes to Steal More Bases This Season But Refuses to Brag; Teammates Find No Change in Star and He Is Still "A Great Little Guy"; Likes a Lot of Friends

By ALAN GOULD Bradenton, Fla., March 2.—Anybody could have told at first glance to-day that "Pepper" Martin was back on the ball field for the first time since he took off on that wild October flight. The flags seemed to be flying a bit more briskly. Townsfolk went about their business with a lighter step.

The elevator boy and the barber had all the details in no time. It looked as if things had turned the corner with as much rapidity as "Pepper" turns the bases.

On the training grounds of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, Martin took his first workout of the spring with as much enthusiasm as any rookie. Teammates who figured the "Pepper" might turn up a changed man, what with all the hullabaloo over his exploits, quickly found out he is still just "a great little guy."

"Just say for me," declared Martin, as he sat down and wiped his dusty face in the club house, "that old Pepper is glad to get back in uniform again; that he knows when he's lucky and that he is going out there this season to hustle every step of the way."

Was he planning to go after the base-stealing honors this year? "Well, I'll travel when they want me to, but it would be foolish for me to say I expect to steal forty or fifty bases. No use of my trying to brag. I've always given everything I have in this game and I'm going to continue while I have the chance. Sure, I figure I can steal a few more bases this year than I did last, just as I figure we will win the pennant again with this great ball club, but the only place to do these things is out on the ball field."

"Pepper," just past his twenty-eighth year—he's a Leap Year baby—has been around long enough to know that fame is fleeting for the athlete who doesn't make it in the clubhouse.

With Rogers Hornsby's views about the roar of the crowd: "One day they'll holler for you to take off your cap; the next day they'll yell at you to take off your uniform."

"I like to have a lot of friends," went on Martin. "I didn't mind all the fuss after the world series so much until they began giving me too much food and trying to eat me for too many speeches. Boy, I'll tell you I was glad when I could get away for awhile, quit that vaudeville act and go out shootin' jack rabbits."

HAS BEEN BIG FACTOR His chance in the "big time" came with Rangers in 1926 and he has been a mainstay of the blue-shirt defence ever since. He has been a pillar of strength in Lester Patrick's crew in five National League eliminations.

Good-natured Ching is one of the most battle-scarred hockeyists. Seldom does he take advantage of his weight and gigantic strength, but he plays with all his fighting heart and seldom comes out of a game without a cut, bruise or fracture.

Extreme bad luck dogged him during the campaigns of 1924-25 and 1925-26, but he always comes back for more. In the former season he crashed into the boards of Montreal and fractured an ankle that put him out for the major part of the schedule. The following year he broke his jaw but refused to go down. Rangers were on the threshold of a cup playdown. Big Ching donned a metal chin guard and kept right on playing to take a leading role in the cup games.

When the strenuous winter campaign is over, Johnson retires with his wife and two children, a boy and a girl, to a little fruit ranch down in California, some twenty miles from Los Angeles. Ching describes the ranch as a great place to pile up energy for the ice-season ahead.

Canadian All-star Squad Scores Unimpressive Win Here

Defeat Local Team In Disappointing Exhibition 16 to 0

Except for Strength of Pack in Loose and One or Two Individual Backfield Plays, Maple Leaf Ruggers Fail to Show Any Brilliance Against Victoria; Jerry Boone, Canadian Scrum Leader, Injured; Campbell Forbes, Frank Skillings, Mitchell and Cameron Gain Tries Aggressive forward attacks and spasmodic bursts of speed by individual members of the backfield gave the Canadian All-stars a 16 to 0 victory over a Victoria "rep" squad that was none too strong, in the exhibition rugby fixture at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday. Twelve minutes after the start of the game, Jerry Boone, scrum leader for the Canucks, was taken from the field with a head injury which kept him out for the remainder of the battle.

ROVERS LOSE TO BURNETTS

Shouldice Scores Winning Goals in Final Frame of Knockout Hockey Fixture

Driving in three tallies in the last period, Will Shouldice gave the Burnetts a 12 to 10 victory over the Rovers in the opening senior knockout fixture in the local roller hockey league at the King Rink Tuesday evening. In the intermediate division, Monarchs, city title holders, downed the Cross Juniors, 5 to 1.

The senior fixture, one of the highest scoring battles of the season, saw the "Swinging" from one end of the rink to the other, with the Burnetts finally clinching the game in the last frame. Gelling and Fish led the scorers for the Burnetts with four goals apiece.

J. Carlow was high man for the Rovers with five.

The teams follow:

Burnetts—Smith, Jackson, (1), Gelling, (4), Shouldice, (3), Fish, (4) and Chambers.

Rovers—Simmons, Tyson, Farmer, (2), Moore, (1), Blackstock, (2), B. Carlow and J. Carlow (5).

Monarchs—Crawford, Scouler, Woodford, Holmes, O'Connor, (2), Smith, (1), Hyne, (2) and Palmer.

Cross Juniors—Timothy, White, Crump, Spaven (1) and West.

CAMBRIDGE CLUB ANNOUNCES CREW

Members to Represent College Against Oxford in Famous Race Selected

Henley-on-Thames, Eng., March 3.—The Cambridge Boat Club yesterday announced the personnel of the crew which will represent it in the eighty-fourth renewal of the century-old boating race between Oxford and Cambridge oarsmen on March 19.

The members, with their weights and colleges, in the order of rowing, are:

D. Haig Thomas, Lady Margaret, 161½; K. Payne, Third Trinity, 170½; T. Askwith, Peterhouse, 154½; W. Sambell, Pembroke, 171½; G. Serrell, Clare, 176; H. Rickett, Third Trinity, 176½; D. McCowen, Pembroke, 171½; L. Laxton, Pembroke, 170½; J. Rankin, Pembroke, 168½; J. Rankin, Pembroke, 168½.

The crew had to break the ice before taking their "rubbing exercise" in front of their boathouse yesterday. They did a fine bit of rowing later, covering a distance equal to the length of the Henley regatta course (about one mile and 530 yards) in 6 minutes and 53 seconds, compared with the course record of 6:31, set under similar conditions. Last week they covered the same distance in 7:41.

The Oxford crew also turned out for practice yesterday, concentrating on paddling exercises with occasional bursts, one of which gave them ten strokes in fifteen seconds, while their best for the full minute was thirty-nine strokes.

Morris Near Death From Knife Wounds

Century, Fla., March 3.—Knife wounds near his heart sent Ed Morris, Boston Red Sox pitcher, near death's brink today and doctors administered oxygen as a last resort to preserve his life.

They said he was in "bad shape," having taken a turn for the worse yesterday evening.

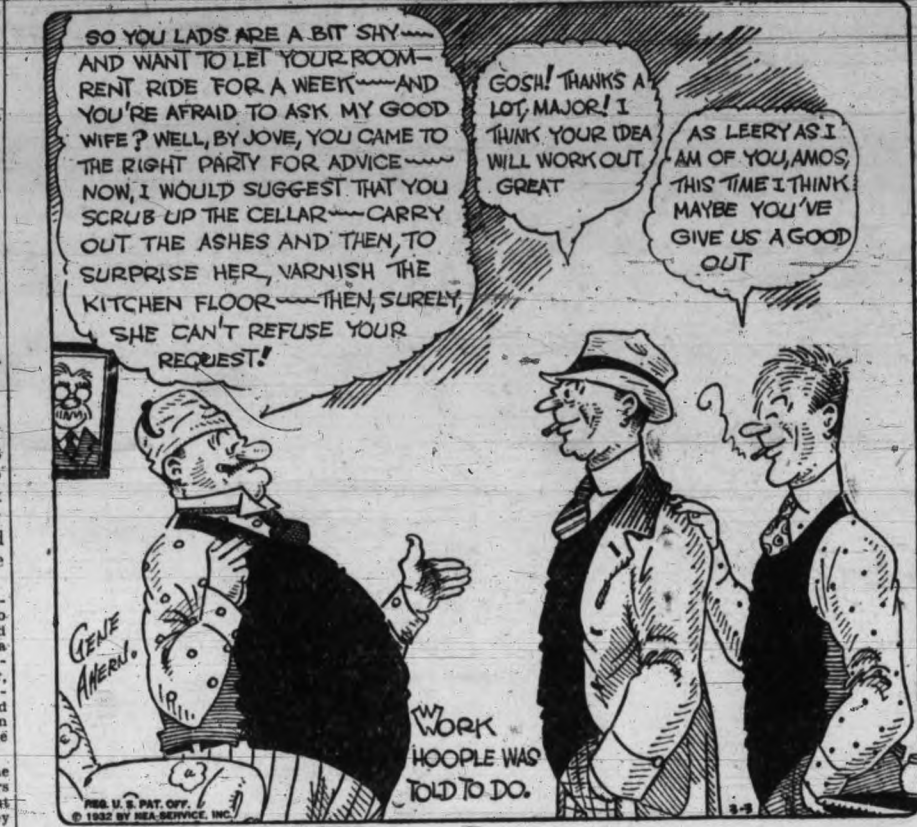

Morris was wounded Monday night in a fight that broke up a fan fight given in his honor near Brewster, Ala.

Kirchmeyer Wins Over Dr. Sarpolis

Bellingham, March 3.—Roland Kirchmeyer, heavyweight graduate of Oklahoma state college, took two out of three falls to defeat Dr. Karl Sarpolis, lately of Los Angeles, to win the main event of a wrestling card here yesterday evening.

Milt Hardman, Bellingham light-weight, won the other two falls over Art Kelly, Oregon, two falls out of three.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

CANADIENS TO MEET MAROONS

Strong Intercity Rivals in the N.H.L. Clash To-night; Rangers Oppose Detroit

Toronto, March 3.—Montreal Maroons swing back into action to-night in what appears to be the feature attraction of the two-game card in the National Hockey League. Canadiens, strong city squad, will furnish the opposition.

Displaying their best form of the season in their last dozen starts, Maroons have plugged a steady uphill trail and at present appear certain of a play-off berth in the Canadian division.

After a week's lay-off, New York Rangers commence a heavy schedule to-night in Detroit, where they engage Jack Adams' Falcons. Boasting a record of having met only one defeat on their home ice to date, Falcons will be out to keep their winning streak intact.

Brown and Bruce Forbes gained on a nice run, but Rowland and Warnock returned with a dangerous dribble to the local fifteen-yard line.

From a scrum thirty yards out, Saunders opened up a run, passing out to Niblo. Niblo made an opening for Cameron on the wing and passed to him. Cameron streaked down the line and dived over just as Patrick tackled him for the last try. Campbell Forbes missed his kick for extra points.

Play swung from end to end as the local went all out for a score, but they were hammered back before they could get through.

Referee H. A. Tomalin sprained his ankle at this stage of the game and Jack Tyrwhitt took over the whistle, for a first substitution in local rugby in years.

Mabee broke away on a good wing run, but after handing off two tacklers was dropped by Suter.

Campbell Forbes kicked clear from his own twenty-five. Brynne caught and running through made a splendid try for a field goal from forty yards out. The kick failed.

Time and again the Canadians broke through, but each time they were hurled back.

On one of their few good three-quarter runs, the Canadian line got away. Cameron, Niblo and Skillings gained round before Brynne hit Skillings on the local twenty-five.

The Canucks were given another free kick just before the game closed, but Brynne cleared it.

H. A. Tomalin and Jack Tyrwhitt refereed, and the teams lined up as follows:

Canadians—Suter, Skillings, Niblo, Cameron, Hunnington, Saunders, Murray, Du Temple, Wharton, Rowland, Boone, Mitchell, Warnock and Campbell Forbes.

Victoria—Brydson, Mabee, Patrick, Usher, Latta, Brown, Symonds, King, Forbes, Sweetnam, McMillan, King, Dunsmuir, Porteous and Schultz.

Pat Fox Winner Of Feature Bout

In the main event of the all-local wrestling card at the Tillicum gym yesterday evening Pat Fox defeated Jim Golby in two straight falls. Fox, who substituted for Sailor Adams, had a fifteen-pound weight advantage over Golby. Fox gained falls in the first and third rounds.

In the semi-windup R. Hopkins took a one-fall victory over E. Thomas. In a fast bout John Hope scored a two-fall win over Peter Joe.

The bouts were refereed by Pat Griffin and Percy Payne. Other results follow: Mascall and Mathews drew; Young Ernie Arthur defeated Young Sarpolis with a body press; Steve Savage defeated Young Sonnenberg with a wrist lock and body press; Gaston defeated Parrot with a body press; Gardner and Gosteller drew and Johnny Masters and Wing Hope drew.

ROBIN REED WINS

Portland, Ore., March 3.—Robin Reed, Redport, Ore., who claims the world waterweight wrestling title, defeated Harry Jones, Provo, Utah, here yesterday evening. He won two falls out of three. Reed weighed 145 pounds, Jones 144.

Hudson's Bay Win Badminton Honors

Defeat Lake Hill 12 to 4 to Capture Fourth Division of Badminton League

Willows and Christ Church Have Clinched Second and Third Division Crowns

Hudson's Bay Beavers' No. 1 team of the fourth division of the Lower Island Badminton League were declared champions of their section yesterday evening when they defeated the Lake Hill squad 12 to 4. They have not been defeated this year in their first season of league competition.

The Beavers' second team in the same section drew with the J.B.A.A. second squad 8 to 8 all in a match played at the Gorge gym of the rowing club representatives.

Winners in three of the four sections of the Lower Island League have been named. Willows have won the second division, while the Duhcan squad, winners for the past three seasons, are ahead in the first division. They have a one-game advantage, over the Willows club, who are to play the league leaders here shortly in the final game of the year. A win for the Willows would create a tie for first place.

Christ Church have won the third division title, succeeding the J.B.A.A., who will likely finish in third place. The Beavers have won the fourth division in its first year of competition.

Scores in the J.B.A.A.-Beavers match follow, with the former players being named first:

WOMEN'S DOUBLES
Mrs. Poole and Miss Wiley beat Miss Hooper and Jubb, 15-15.
Mrs. Hooley and Miss Underwood lost to Mrs. Walker and Bleasdale, 12-15.
Miss Wiley and Miss Underwood lost to Miss Hooper and Jubb, 8-15.

MEN'S DOUBLES
Scott and Mellor beat Henderson and McAdams, 15-15.
Thomas and Dillabough lost to Washington and McAdams, 12-15.
Scott and Mellor beat Henderson and McAdams, 15-15.

MIXED DOUBLES
Mrs. Poole and Scott lost to Miss Bleasdale and Henderson, 15-15.
Miss Wiley and Mellor lost to Miss Walker and Bleasdale, 8-15.
Mrs. Hooley and Thomas beat Miss Jubb and Underwood, 15-15.
Miss Underwood and Dillabough beat Miss Hooper and McAdams, 15-15.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 3.—An eighteen-year-old Jacksonville debutante, Mary Rogers, who has been playing golf only two years, gave Helen Hicks, U.S. champion, a genuine scare yesterday in their first-round match of the Florida East Coast tournament.

Then Miss Hicks recovered her stride and stroked out a 3 and 2 victory.

All the favorites advanced through the first round, but Virginia Van Wie had a struggle with Mrs. Joe Holinger, Gainesville, Fla., before winning 3 to 2.

Marion Turpin, New Orleans, who won the women's crown twice in 1929 and 1930, defeated Mrs. A. Maus, St. Augustine, 9 and 8.

Mrs. R. C. Lake, formerly Marion Turpin, New Orleans, who won the women's crown twice in 1929 and 1930, defeated Mrs. A. Maus, St. Augustine, 9 and 8.

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 3.—In an all-British final, Fred Perry, British ace, yesterday won the men's tennis championship of Bermuda, defeating H. G. N. Lee, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

The mixed doubles final, another all-British affair, resulted in an unexpected victory for George P. Hughes and Mrs. Ellen Bennett Whittinghall, over Perry and Betty Nuthall. The score was 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

The British-Bermuda team match was not completed. Stormy weather prevented play on Monday and Tuesday and the players from Britain sailed for home to-day.

San Francisco Junior Welterweight Takes Decision From Manila Star

Seattle, March 3.—Keeping his hard-hitting opponent from landing a clean punch on his jaw, Matt Calo, San Francisco junior welterweight, scored a decision over Sammy Santos, Manila, in a six-round boxing bout here yesterday evening.

Santos weighed 140½ pounds and Calo 135½.

Calo landed at long range with a straight right and battered the Filipino in the clinches. Calo closed Santos' left eye in the second.

Harry Ketchell, Tacoma featherweight, swapped blow for blow with Joe Calder, Seattle, in the six-round semi-final to earn a draw. The boys furnished lots of action and swung with both fists in the wild melee.

Frank Van Hee, Port Orchard, Wash., heavyweight, won a six-round decision over Frank Sawyer, Vancouver.

POOLERS IN FINAL

Edmonton, March 3.—Barney Stanley's Poolers, Edmonton's hopes for provincial junior hockey honors, advanced into the final round of the Alberta playoffs by scoring a 2 to 0 victory over Camrose flyers here yesterday evening.

The win gave Poolers victory on the round by a single goal.

Toronto Leafs Are Just $3,000 Poorer

Toronto, March 3.—The Toronto Mail and Empire to-day says: "With the announcement of the Canadian Press, all-star hockey team, the Maple Leaf Hockey Club is $3,000 poorer. It appears that when Conny Smythe last summer signed Harvey Jackson and Charley Conacher for two and three years respectively, he stipulated that if either player was selected on the alternate all-star team he would give them a bonus of $1,000 and an additional $1,000 if he was picked on the all-star team."

"Jackson, by being selected on the all-star team gets $2,000 bonus, while Conacher, by being picked on the alternate team, gets $1,000."

Buffalo Wins Over Windsor

Leaders of International Hockey League in 4 to 1 Victory; London Moves Up

Toronto, March 3.—Buffalo Bisons and London Tempests are to-day seated at the head of the International Hockey League race. Trouncing the slipping Detroit Olympics 4 to 1 in London yesterday evening while the pace-setting Bisons were disposing of Windsor Bulldogs by a similar score, Tempests moved into sole possession of second place, two points in the van of Windsor and three in the rear of Buffalo.

A second-period scoring spree by the veteran forward Mike Neville accounted for three goals and gave London an easy victory over the left-weary Olympics. Jumping into a goal lead in the initial period, Neville added three markers in the second session. Tempests turned to a defensive game in the final period and held the Detroiters to a single goal.

Referee Jerry Lathin was given a merry ride in Windsor when Herbie Mitchell's speedy Bulldogs fell before the smooth-working Bismarck machine. Play was delayed five minutes in the second period while rink attendants cleared the ice after the wildest demonstration ever witnessed in the league.

Carl Voss, crafty centre, was the mainstay of Bisons' attack, having a hand in three of the four goals.

Uses 5,000 Handicap to Defeat World Billiard Champion 17,815 to 17,354

Montreal, March 3.—Climaxing a ten-day display of marvelous billiard skill, Walter Lindrum, Australia, world champion at English billiards, yesterday evening just failed to overcome a handicap of 5,000 points he gave Tom Newman, former British champion.

The final score of the match began on February 23 was: Newman (receiving 5,000), 17,815; Lindrum, 17,354. Newman thus scored 4,339 more points than did his opponent but was 462 short of making up the handicap.

The two men will now go to Ottawa, opening a three-day match there to-day. The week of March 7 will find them in Toronto. Detroit will see them on March 17, 18 and 19, a western trip following immediately. Dates for their appearances are still to be set. They are scheduled to open an exhibition in New York City on April 7.

Daula Wins Match From A. Anderson

Duncan, March 3.—In a wrestling match here yesterday evening, Tiger Daula, giant Hindu wrestler, won in straight falls from Axel Anderson, Seattle heavyweight. Daula took falls in the third and fourth rounds and had the best of the bout throughout.

In the five-round semi-windup "Rocky" Brown, Victoria heavyweight, and Bill Logan, Spokane, grappled to a one-fall draw.

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 3.—In an all-British final, Fred Perry, British ace, yesterday won the men's tennis championship of Bermuda, defeating H. G. N. Lee, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

Rail Bonds Provide Feature With Many Substantial Gains

Canadian Press

New York, March 3.—The latest-buying wave in stocks subsided in to-day's market, and prices were irregularly mixed. Most of the leading issues declined excepted on the point. The list turned dull on the decline, and turned over approximately 1,000,000 shares. The closing was easy.

Auburn again had a sharp sinking spell, losing more than six points. There were a few firm spots, Lambeau, for example, but the market was a Bull pool, however, were not aggressive. U.S. Steel closed off a fraction after showing a temporary gain of one point. American Telephone, after moving up 1½, closed about a point lower. Central Electric, which had moved up to 10½, finished a point lower. People's Gas regained part of an early loss of three. Bohn Aluminum and Chemicals, which had been up 1½, McKesson and Robbins preferred fell several points.

There was scattered profit-taking in the latter part of the session and various issues receded somewhat from their early high quotations, but the market remained generally well centred on the low-priced and convertible issues, although moderate gains were recorded by the higher grade lines. Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Disgruntled Parents Whose Daughters' Beaux Never Know When to Go Home—To Tell or Not to Tell

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Is it lack of refinement and good breeding that causes young men of to-day not to leave at a proper hour when they call on a girl? The stag habit at dances has now been taken into the home and a girl with one date may find herself with a mob before the evening is over. Young men do not even phone that they are coming, but present themselves unannounced. Instead of the old method of parents dropping their shoes or giving an occasional yawn as a hint to boys that it is time to leave, it takes the tear gas or the strong-arm method to give them the air. The gigolo is fast becoming a race. Parents of sons often wonder where their boys are in the wee small hours. We fathers and mothers of daughters could tell them.

Answer—Evidently you are feeling peevish after having your night's rest broken by your daughter's beaux, and I certainly agree with you that there are no greater pests than guests who never know when to go home. No human being can be fascinating for more than thirty minutes at a stretch. No one can be interesting for longer than an hour, and two hours is the limit of human endurance on any one's society.

And, of course, a mighty little of the company of boys and girls goes a long way with any person who does not belong to their generation and has not their tastes nor habits nor interests; who does not even speak their language nor get the points of their jokes. But why afflict yourself with this? Why, after you have said "howdy do" to the young men who come to your house, do you not go off and go to bed and to sleep and forget them? After all, you know, daughters' dates did not come to see you, and any older person is always a wet blanket over the bubbling spirits of the young.

As for chaperoning them, you do that sufficiently when you are on the place. Just the knowledge that mother and father are around somewhere in the background is an invaluable protection to a girl and keeps a party from getting too rough.

Personally, I should think that any mother and father would be so thankful to have their daughter entertain her friends at home instead of rushing off with them to night clubs and on wild automobile rides to God knows where, or parking with them in cars, that they would not care if the boys did stay longer after they should have had sense enough to go home.

There is no other one thing that parents make a greater mistake about than they do about the attitude they assume toward the young men who come to see their daughters. Very often this is so hostile that it drives boys away, for no youth with any spirit will go to a house in which it is made apparent to him that he is not wanted. Many a girl owes her old maidenhood to the fact that her grouchy father virtually insulted every eligible youth who came to see her.

Also, there are those fathers and mothers who do not like to have their habits and comforts interfered with, and who insist on monopolizing the living-room and their own favorite chairs and reading lights when the girls have company, and after a boy has spent a few evenings in the bosom of the family, with father and mother and grandma and grandpa and little brother and little sister eavesdropping all he says, he also quits coming for takes the girl out to some place where they can be alone.

And there are other parents who drive all the young people away because they do not like noise, or they want to go to sleep with the birds, and who mortify a girl to death by virtually ordering her friends out of the house.

All of this is a fatal mistake. In every family where there are girls welcome should be printed on the doormat. Girls should be encouraged to have their friends in their own houses instead of entertaining them on the streets. This is not only safer, but it gives the parents a chance to get acquainted with the boys and find out what sort of chaps they are.

For a girl to have a home that her parents make pleasant does as much as any other one thing to promote her chances of making a good marriage, for it is the home atmosphere and the home background that turn a man's thoughts toward matrimony.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—My mother died a number of years ago from T.B. I am engaged to be married and not long ago in speaking of disease my fiancé expressed great horror of T.B. I am strong and healthy and working every day, but I am wondering if this young man would marry me if he knew that my mother died of that ailment. Do you think I should tell him? A. B.

Answer—I think you should. He will be sure to find it out and it may make him think that you deceived him. If he is at all upset by finding out about your mother, get him to go to some physician and talk it over. Any doctor will tell him that T.B. is not hereditary, and that because your mother had it is no reason on earth why you should. In any event, it is quite possible that she acquired it years after you were born.

Story of the Alphabet

IV.—IN GREECE AND ROME

Long before the time of the great thinkers, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, had learned the art of writing. By the sailors and traders of Phoenicia, they had been taught the magic letters of the alphabet.

2	2	Α	A
3	3	Β	B
4	4	Γ	C
5	5	Δ	D
6	6	Ε	E
7	7	Ζ	F

Now six letters have changed.

The Greeks changed the alphabet. They turned the letter "A" right side up, as we might say.

The picture of a bird used for a "B" in olden Egypt was turned into a modern "B" by the Greeks.

The picture used in Egypt for the "H" sound was turned into the modern letter "H" by the Greeks.

The Phoenicians handed a letter looking something like "y" to the Greeks, and they turned it into the modern "Y."

Greeks at first wrote their words from right to left, as they had been taught. For a reason not clearly known, people in western Greece turned their writing the other way around, writing from left to right, as we do. This custom was adopted in Athens a little more than 2,500 years ago.

For a long time the Greeks did not use periods, commas or question marks. It took them hundreds of years before they learned to put spaces between their words.

READING WAS RATHER HARD IN ANCIENT GREECE.

Can you read the sentence above? It will give you an idea of how hard it was for school pupils in ancient Greece to learn to read.

Greeks who went to Sicily and Italy to start colonies taught the alphabet to the ancient Romans. The Romans, in their turn, changed some of the letters.

At an early date, Romans learned to make a dot after each word. This made reading more simple than it had been before.

The Romans did not have "J," "U" or "W" in their alphabet. Their "I" letter stood for both the "I" and the "J" sounds.

People of western Europe learned the alphabet from the Romans. Changes were made by Germans, Frenchmen and Englishmen; but for the most part, our modern alphabet is the same as the old Roman alphabet.

Grain Business This Year Shows Increase

Marketings on Western Lines Show 20 Per Cent Increase Over Last February

Wheat Exports From Vancouver This Month Expected to Reach 1,000,000 Mark

Winnipeg, March 3.—Grain marketings on western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway in February this year showed a substantial increase of 20 per cent over those in the same month of 1931. It is shown in a statement issued yesterday by H. C. Taylor, the company's superintendent of transportation in Winnipeg.

The figures covering grain delivered to country elevators are: February, 1932, wheat, 4,756,000 bushels; other, 2,275,000 bushels; all grains, 7,031,000 bushels; February, 1931, wheat, 4,480,000 bushels; other, 1,371,000 bushels; all grains, 5,851,000 bushels.

Most of the deliveries to country points are credited to Alberta, there being approximately 70 per cent originating in that province. Accumulative totals from August 1, 1931, show 101,834,000 bushels of wheat and 17,301,000 bushels of other grains, or a total of 119,135,000 bushels of all grains delivered to elevators along the lines of the Canadian Pacific in the west during the present crop year, 60 per cent of which was produced in Alberta, with the movement particularly heavy from the northern sections of that province.

AT VANCOUVER

From August 1 to February 29 a gross total of 56,443 cars of all grains were loaded on western lines. The figures show that 18,346 cars moved west to the port of Vancouver, with the balance of 38,097 cars sent east to the Head of the Lakes and milling points. The westbound movement is still fairly good with the eastward movement comparatively light, but it is expected that the east movement will improve towards the opening of navigation.

Stocks in store at country elevators are fairly heavy, there being approximately 42,000,000 bushels in country house available for shipment. Total stocks on C.P.R. lines represent about 32 per cent of the total stocks in western Canadian country elevators.

Farmers along the lines of the Canadian Pacific still hold approximately 30,000,000 bushels of all types of grain for shipment, about 23,000,000 bushels being wheat. These items are exclusive of feed, seed and other farm requirements.

From Vancouver 44,993,468 bushels have been exported since August 1, of which 7,398,927 bushels moved out during the month of February. It is expected that exports for March will reach the 10,000,000-bushel mark.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, March 3.—Flood conditions over the state in recent days have disrupted railway deliveries of apples from the Wenatchee district to such an extent that ocean shipping has been delayed.

The Gothic Star sailed yesterday for England and the continent after having been held over for three days, and the Wisconsin, instead of coming directly to Seattle from Portland, will be sent to Vancouver, B.C. first.

The Wisconsin will arrive here Sunday, shippers said, to load 8,000 boxes of apples for Havre.

KYUQUOT BIDS IN

Vancouver, March 3.—Tenders for repairs to the Canadian Pacific Railway tug boat Kyuquot were opened on Tuesday and forwarded to Montreal by company officials. No award has yet been made, and it is not expected will be for several days.

PRINCE ROBERT ON ALASKA RUN

Will Take Place of Prince Henry This Summer; Season's Scheduled Announced

The regular weekly steamship service of the Canadian National steamships between Vancouver and northern British Columbia will be extended to June when the regular summer schedule to Alaska will go into effect. It was announced in Vancouver this morning by George A. McNeill, general passenger agent for the Canadian National steamships. The steamers Prince Rupert and Prince George will operate on this route.

When the summer schedule goes into effect on June 8, three steamers will be used. The Prince Rupert will take the place of the Prince Henry and operate a weekly service from Vancouver to Skagway and return via intermediate ports. The Prince George and the Prince Rupert will operate a ten-day trip from Vancouver to Anxox and return.

The Prince Rupert will leave Vancouver every Thursday evening, returning the following Thursday morning. The Prince George will leave for Skagway on Monday evenings, and for Prince Rupert, Stewart and Anxox on Wednesday evenings.

The regular service of the Prince John from Vancouver and Prince Rupert to and from the Queen Charlotte Islands will be continued.

The summer schedule will remain in effect until August 29, when the fall schedule will be inaugurated.

Canadian Britisher Coming to This Port

Victoria may be linked with Montreal and Quebec during the coming summer by freighters of the Canadian National fleet operating on a fortnightly schedule. The new service is in the pipeline, it was learned here this morning. The new service is now under consideration. It is stated that the Canadian National, British Columbia, Canadian Pacific and Canadian Western will operate this service.

This intercoastal service, maintained between Victoria, Vancouver, St. John and Halifax during the winter season, has opened Pacific Coast markets which formerly were beyond reach of eastern Canadian manufacturers, because of economic reasons.

Lumber from British Columbia and general merchandise from eastern Canada are the commodities carried. The service is at present carrying heavy cargoes. It is expected the Canadian Britisher, leaving Montreal for British Columbia ports May 1, will be loaded to capacity.

The Canadian Western and the Canadian Ranger are frequent callers here, but the Canadian Britisher has not been here in the last five years.

NO DIVIDENDS PAID

Montreal, Que., March 3.—A falling off in grain tonnage and tourist passenger business is reflected in the annual report of Canada Steamship Lines Limited issued yesterday. Total revenue for the year ended December 31, 1931, amounted to $5,558,809, against $11,547,062 in the preceding year. No dividends were paid during the year. After all charges, bond discount and reserves for depreciation there was a deficit of $1,310,462.

AIRPLANE FLIES OVER AT NIGHT

Victorians were surprised yesterday evening when the mail plane from Seattle, in charge of Pilot Percy Barnes, flew over the city about 7 o'clock with the late United States mails for the outbound liner Niagara.

Nothing but two tiny green and red lights could be seen traveling rapidly against the stars, but the steady drone of the plane's engine gave her away and many people went out on their verandas to watch the unusual sight. The machine made a perfect landing in the inner harbor and an hour after leaving Seattle the mail bags were aboard the Niagara on their way to Honolulu and Australia.

NO INSTANT TRIPS FOR COAST

San Francisco, March 3.—Travel men and officials of the Holland-American Line, at a luncheon aboard the Dutch motorship Delft, held here yesterday agreed that the instant plan for tours probably would not be adopted by foreign lines operating steamers between Europe and the Pacific Coast.

The matter was discussed when a circular was read announcing that the Cunard Line had decided to sell passages between New York and Europe and New York and the West Indies. The instant plan, 25 per cent down and ten dollars a month after the trip was completed.

CRASH DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Repairs to West Honaker and Ernest H. Meyer Will Cost About $40,000

Portland, Ore., March 3.—A clear weather collision between two steamers in the Columbia River near Longview yesterday resulted in damage estimated by marine men at about $40,000. Herport, the Canadian Pacific liner, was damaged. The West Honaker, outbound, and the Ernest H. Meyer, inbound, crashed as the result of an apparent mistake in signals.

The damage to the Honaker was estimated at $25,000. She returned to Portland in a leaky condition, the pumps barely keeping up with the water. She carried little cargo. Her port side was smashed in at the No. 1 hold.

The Ernest H. Meyer, loaded deeply with 3,600 tons of cargo, received a crushed stem.

Repairs were estimated at $15,000.

The Honaker is a United States Shipping Board boat operated by H. V. Pincney of San Francisco in the South African Dispatch Line service. The Meyer is owned by a group of Portland business men.

MONTREAL TO OPEN EARLIER

Liners Montcalm and Ascania Will Open St. Lawrence This Year on April 14

Navigation for passenger liners on the St. Lawrence waterway will open two weeks earlier this year than usual, according to schedules received in Victoria this morning at the local offices of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways.

The Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm and the Canadian liner Ascania will both sail from Montreal to Europe on April 14. They will be the first liners of the season to open the St. Lawrence. Thereafter there will be regular sailings with the Empresses, sailing, as usual, from Quebec.

Passenger travel across the Atlantic this year is expected to prove satisfactory. Already, at the local transportation offices there have been many inquiries for fair rates of the steamers crossing between North America and Europe during the coming summer. The Buchanan Congress in Dublin in June will fill a number of steamers leaving Montreal and New York late in May.

200,000 Goldfish Travel by Train

The other day there were more than 200,000 passengers on the "Empire Builder" of the Great Northern, but the congestion was not noticeable except in one car. This was an express car full of ten-gallon cans, and each of the cans was full of goldfish. It was a personally-conducted trip for the goldfish, which were in charge of a Japanese. Two or three times a day he took a short-handled net into the express car and scooped out the ones which had turned out to be poor travelers.

CRUISE LINER AT YOKOHAMA

Yokohama, March 3.—For a four-day visit before setting out across the Pacific for Honolulu and San Francisco, en route to New York where her world cruise will terminate, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain arrived here this morning from Kobe. She will sail for Honolulu on Sunday evening.

The liner will be joined here by many residents of China and Japan who are going to North America for their annual spring and summer holidays. The ship will carry a capacity list of first-class passengers. To-day was the first time the liner was seen at this port.

Shortly after she arrived the passengers disembarked and were met on the quay by friends and the usual host of rickshaw men. It was not long before the tourists were bowling along the Bund in these queer conveyances, so dear to the heart of every true tourist. Many of the travelers were up to Tokyo for luncheon and there saw all the sights of the Japanese capital. Some of them will remain overnight and to-morrow will visit the Mikado's Palace, the Imperial Hotel, the famous Ginza with its great department stores, Oriental and Occidental, and other sights.

Before leaving Japan the tourists will also travel to Kamakura and Nikko, where they will see the beautiful red lacquer bridge, the Tombs of the Two Shoguns and the giant cryptomeria trees. The present is the loveliest time to visit Japan and all the countryside is bursting into bloom.
